West Germany Balks At Move For Rearming

Adenauer Receives Setback In Seeking Parliament Support

BONN, Germany, June 10 (AP)—The West German Parliament balked today at rearmament measures, charging the government was acting with "undignified haste." It was a startling setback for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the eve of his top-level talks with Western statesmen.

The Bundesrat—upper house—refused to give immediate support to a government bill to put the first volunteer West German soldiers into uniform this summer.

Legislation "Unclear"

It complained the legislation was "unclear on a number of basic questions" and sent the bill back to the government with a strongly worded resolution demanding clarification of the way future forces are to be raised.

The resolution—adopted unanimously despite Adenauer's two-thirds majority — asked how the democratic rights of future soldiers were to be protected and how Parliament was to be insured control of the military. Speakers expressed fear the 250-word bill could be used to escape civilian brakes on a military administration.

The Bundesrat action does not kill the bill. But it means the strong-willed Chancellor will have to use all his parliamentary skill to get it through the Bundestag—lower house. Then, if still not satisfied that there are enough safeguards, the Bundesrat can impose further delay.

Adenauer Wants Unity

Adenauer wants to demonstrate Western unity and strength by getting rearmament under way before the planned Big Four "summit" meeting in July.

It will take months to pass the 20 detailed laws needed for full legalization of rearmament. The volunteer bill was designed as a short cut to permit some 10,000 officers and men to be called up for preliminary training.

It simply authorizes the government to employ and pay them as civil servants and lays down an oath of loyalty. It was to be valid only until next March, when it would be replaced by permanent regulations. Adenauer wanted the law passed before the mid-July parliamentary recess.

U. S. To Help Rearm Austria

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States expects to help rearm Austria, which recently won an independence treaty, Secretary of State Dulles disclosed today.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that if aid is requested by Austria, "and we think it probably will be, we will give some assistance to Austria in equipping the forces allowed by the treaty."

The pact bars Austria from possessing atomic weapons or other mass destruction weapons, although it places no limit on the size of her army.

Austria has vowed to remain neutral as between Russia and Western nations, but officials here said such arms aid as is contemplated would be no violation of treaty obligations.

Dulles went before the Foreign Relations group to appeal for speedy approval of the new Austrian treaty. The treaty, signed May 15 after nearly 10 years of delay by Russia, "may open the way to further cooperation to fulfill other wartime pledges" by the Soviet Union, he said.

One major wartime agreement was reached in February 1945, at Yalta, when Russia agreed to free elections in Eastern European nations.

More Money Now Needed For Cuff Travel Abroad

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—So many people plan to travel abroad on the cuff that President Eisenhower was forced today to ask more money to handle an unprecedented flood of passport applications.

The popularity of "go now—pay later" credit plans offered by travel companies was cited by the White House as one reason why the number of would-be globetrotters has reached an all-time high.

Eisenhower asked Congress for $2,036,000 in supplemental appropriations. Besides paying for handling of passports, this money would be used for State Department communications, travel and other expenses in connection with the coming Big Four meeting and other international conferences.

Ike Signs Pay Hike Bill For Postal Workers

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower's signature today brought final approval of an average 8 per cent pay increase for half a million postal workers, ending months of squabbling over the issue.

The approved bill may set the pattern for a similar pay hike for a million classified Civil Service workers. Their bill is now pending in a House committee.

The President, who vetoed two postal pay hikes over the past 10 months, called the final act "the greatest forward step for our postal employes in more than a century."

Annual increases will range from $160 to $4,400, with the average about $320.

Postmaster General Summerfield immediately announced a 6 per cent increase for all postal workers will take effect in paychecks for the period beginning June 16.

Lump sum payments for the retroactive feature of the pay hike, which goes back to March 1, will be handed out July 15.

In addition to the general 6 per cent boost, the bill provides for a broad reshuffling of postal job classifications. This amounts to an extra 2 per cent pay hike on the average, although the increase will be much more than that for some workers, especially supervisory employes.

The reclassification increases will take effect next December.

Altogether, the bill will cost the government about 164 million dollars a year, assumably adding that amount to the chronic postal deficit which totaled 400 millions over the last full financial year.

The retroactive payments will amount to 40 million dollars.

Late in its 1954 session, Congress approved a 5 per cent postal pay increase but Eisenhower vetoed it because the plan failed to include his request for an increase in postal rates, including a boost from 3 cents to 4 cents for a first class stamp.

This year, Eisenhower dropped his stand that a rate increase must accompany a pay boost, although he is still urging the rate increase. Congress, led largely by Democrats, pushed through an average 8.8 per cent pay hike, much more than Eisenhower asked.

LOS ANGELES, June 10 (AP)—Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) predicted today that President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon will lead the GOP to a "smashing victory" at the polls next year.

Gen. Claims West Can Beat Red Attacks

Gruenther Says No Need For Stampede Into Bad Settlement

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today the West is militarily strong enough "as of today" to defeat any possible Soviet aggression.

Therefore it need not be stampeded into a bad settlement of East West tensions, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization supreme commander said in a luncheon talk to the National Press Club.

"It would be nothing less than catastrophic for our negotiators to go to the conference table thinking they have to have a solution this year," he said.

Long-Range Airpower

Carefully spelling out the basis for his conclusions, Gruenther made it plain that he considers Western superiority in long-range airpower the decisive factor at the moment—but that this situation may not necessarily last.

He took cognizance also of the current argument over recent disclosures of Soviet advances in military aviation, and said he has never asserted that the United States is ahead of Russia, in overall air capacity. Gruenther also said he is not contending that "we can win a war with air power alone."

"I do say," he went on," "we cannot win a war without air power."

Gruenther was asked the direct question whether the West could defeat Russia now if the Reds started a war in Europe.

"Yes, as of today," he replied, "because of our present superiority in long-range air power and particularly the technological capacity we have. I am making no prediction how long this situation would last. The Soviets are making a major effort to develop a capability of their own."

NATO Is Successful

Gruenther said NATO has had fantastic success in perfecting its defenses during the past four years. Distinguishing between its ability to win an ultimate victory and its ability to check any possible Soviet drive into Western Europe, he estimated that in three or four years the Western Alliance would be able to defend Europe against such a thrust. But he said this estimate rests on two assumptions:

1. "We must have a German contribution."

2. "We must be able to use atomic weapons to repel any aggression."

Swiss Newspaper Denied Correspondent

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 10 (AP)—Yugoslavia has denied a Swiss newspaper permission to maintain a correspondent here permanently on the ground its reporting of events in this country was "unobjective, malicious and systematically tendentious."

That was the statement today of Brank Draskovic, chief of the information section of the Yugoslav Foreign Office, in explaining why permanent accreditation had been denied Victor Mayer, correspondent for the Neue Zuercher (Zurich) Zeitung.

Dulles To Speak

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles plans to deliver a foreign policy speech Sunday night at the University of Indiana's baccalaureate services.

Nose Wheel Shimmy Halts Test Of Wingless Airship

EMPORIA, Va., June 10 (AP)—A shimmying nose wheel disrupted plans for the initial flight of a wingless airship today but failed to shake the faith of its amateur inventor that the revolutionary gadget will fly.

For Charles Pritchard, an undaunted railroad gang foreman, it simply meant a delay of "10 days or two weeks" while he fixed the shake in the front wheel of the ship's tricycle landing gear.

"I'm still convinced," he said, "that my ship will fly."

A crowd of nearly 1,500 gathered at Emporia airport early today to watch as the strange-looking, octagonal ship made its first attempt to leave the ground.

Built by Pritchard of aluminum, the 800-pound wingless craft has six fins, or baffles, several inches high, which extend almost the entire length of the 21-foot fuselage.

The fins are supposed to keep air "flowing in proper channels over the hull of the ship from nose to stern, creating lift on the entire surface of the ship," Pritchard says.

But in today's first test everything seemed to go wrong.

Pritchard lost steering control shortly after he began his fourth taxi run down the airport's 4,000-foot runway and swerved off the concrete strip into a field.

The ship was pulled back on to the runway by Pritchard's friends.

After one more unsuccessful test run, the craft was placed on a truck and trundled back to Klugel's Metal Shop here where Pritchard built the ship in his spare time.

P. R. Steinman, Richmond, Va., aviation safety agent for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said he instructed Pritchard to fly no higher than 10 feet above the field because Pritchard had no parachute.

Wildcat GM Walkouts End

UAW Looks For New Offer From Auto Company

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers union stomped out the last of a dozen wildcat strikes at General Motors plants today and went back into contract talks with the company, openly expecting a new offer.

UAW Vice President John W. Livingston used an indirect means of expressing the union's anticipation.

Livingston was asked whether GM had yet come up with a second counterproposal to the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage. He replied:

Wildcat Strikes Ended

(No one among a battery of newsmen, public relations men and other company and union officials was familiar with the expression. But the implication was clear to all.)

General Motors and the union reported today that the last of the wildcats—at the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at South Gate, Calif.—had been ended.

The company closed 20 assembly and body plants around the country today. The unauthorized stoppages though short-lived were blamed. About 60,000 workers were idled in all by the closings.

Production is expected to approach normal again by Monday—barring a companywide strike for lack of a contract.

The union's deadline for settlement, postponed from last Tuesday midnight, now is set for Sunday midnight.

But with that deadline only a little more than 48 hours away, nobody on either side seemed worried.

Looks For Settlement

As he announced a five-day contract extension Tuesday, Livingston said he had every reason to believe that a peaceful settlement will be worked out. Since then negotiators from both the company and union have appeared optimistic and jovial.

Some sources felt that GM would have made a new offer before today had it not been for the series of wildcat strikes that plagued production of the industry's biggest producer most of the week. Nearly 41,000 GM workers were affected at the peak of the stoppages.

Any new General Motors offer is expected to be somewhat in line with the UAW's settlement with the Ford Motor Co. last Monday. A highlight of that was a company guarantee of 60 to 65 per cent of normal take-home pay, including state unemployment compensation, for laid off workers.

Soviet To Have Big Atom Plants

MOSCOW June 10 (AP)—Former Premier Georgi Malenkov told Western reporters today the Soviet Union expects to have large atomic power plants in operation within a few years.

Malenkov, now Soviet minister of power stations, said the Soviet plants would be 50,000 and 100,000-kilowatt installations. His conversation with the reporters took place at an Indian Embassy garden party honoring India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Malenkov appeared completely at ease as he laughed and joked with reporters. He joined the journalists casually during a stroll about the Embassy grounds.

The former Premier said Nehru "apparently" was going to visit a 5,000-kilowatt atomic pilot plant already in operation "because he is greatly interested in this question." A reporter asked Malenkov if Western journalists might visit the plant.

"It is possible your chance will come." Malenkov said.

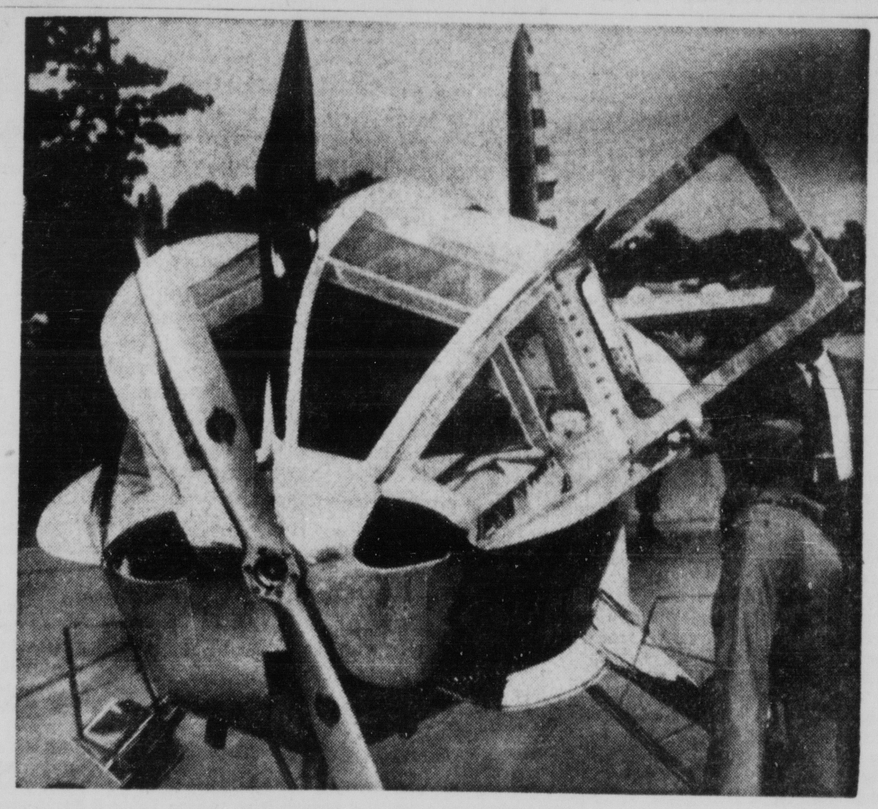

New Freedom Hint For Pilots Is Given

MISSOULA, Mont., June 10 (AP)—A new hint of freedom for more U. S. airmen held by Red China has come in a letter to a prisoner's wife.

Mrs. Marjorie Llewellyn, 29, of Missoula, said today she received a letter dated May 30 from the Chinese Red Cross in Peiping. That was the day Red China freed four U. S. fliers.

The letter said in part: "Premier Chou En-lai is in deep sympathy with the difficult situation for Cap. Elmer Llewellyn's family."

The Red Cross letter added that an offer to relatives to visit the men in China still stands.

It Doesn't Fly Yet

Its crew rolls out the wingless airship which has been designed and built by Charles Pritchard, 46, of Emporia, Va., for its test flight but mechanical trouble yesterday prevented its takeoff on its initial flight. A shimmy in the nose wheel caused the flight's postponement. Pritchard says plane will fly. (See story bottom of page).

Steel Workers Ask Pay Boost In Pact Talks

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP)—CIO United Steelworkers negotiators today completed presentation of their case for a "substantial" pay boost to six of the nation's largest basic steel producers.

Talks with Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland Steel recessed indefinitely, marking the end of the initial phase of 1955 negotiations.

Officials of the three firms thus joined executives of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic in getting down to serious study of the USW demands. The latter heard union arguments in previous conferences.

Shortly before the first round of talks drew to a close today, USW President David J. McDonald went before union bargaining committees at a closed meeting to review union objectives and to sum up the negotiations to date. Union spokesmen declined to discuss what he said.

Sessions this week were devoted almost exclusively to the union's proposals. Headed by McDonald, USW committees told each company separately why they believe steelworkers should receive a healthy wage increase.

The six companies, which employ more than 400,000 of the 600,000 USW members in basic steel, may notify the union at any time that they are prepared to go back to the bargaining table.

It's likely, but not definite, that talks will resume sometime next week. At that time industry negotiators probably will present counter-proposals and the "give-and-take" phase will get under way.

Negotiations are being conducted under a wage reopening clause in a two-year contract signed last year. Industry officials have expressed no desire to discuss any guaranteed annual wage plan voluntarily, which means this issue can't be brought up until next year.

Except for stating that it seeks a sizable pay hike, the USW has not disclosed publicly what it is demanding. Company bargainers haven't made any comment on the union proposals.

Nehru And Bulganin Hold Lengthy Talks

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin held another lengthy conference today on world problems. No details were announced, but Soviet Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev said he is satisfied the way the Indian-Russian talks are going.

Khrushchev made his comment to Western reporters at an Indian Embassy garden party honoring Nehru.

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (AP)—Actor Walter Hampden, 75, who suffered a stroke yesterday was reported by his physician today to be in "fairly satisfactory" condition.

House Group Rejects Ike's Plea For $6,500,000 For Dixon-Yates Power Lines

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee voted in effect today to strand the Dixon-Yates power project in the middle of the Mississippi River.

It refused to approve $6,500,000 requested by President Eisenhower to build a transmission line to carry power from the proposed Dixon-Yates plant to West Memphis, Ark., into the Tennessee Valley Authority distribution system.

Instead, it diverted the $6,500,000 to start construction of a TVA steam plant at Fulton, Tenn., to furnish power which the Dixon-Yates plant would have provided.

Under provisions of a contract the Dixon-Yates group has with the Atomic Energy Commission, the private utility operators are supposed to build a transmission line to the middle of the Mississippi River, with the TVA picking up the power at that point.

The 23-to-19 vote by which the committee decided to choke off the Dixon-Yates project forecast a sharp battle when the House itself votes late next week. It will be the first time the Democratic controlled 84th Congress has had an opportunity to vote on the controversial Dixon-Yates contract which was approved indirectly by the Republican-dominated 83rd Congress.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) declared the committee action "kills the Dixon-Yates deal because it doesn't give them an outlet for their power."

Cannon predicted that the House would uphold the committee, but conceded the outcome would be close.

"There is no need for Dixon-Yates," he said. "The Fulton plant can provide the necessary power."

Rep. Phillips (R-Calif), who fought against the action behind the closed doors of the committee, said he was confident the House would upset the committee.

"And if it doesn't, there's no doubt that the Senate will upset it," Phillips added.

Whatever the outcome of the House voting, the Dixon-Yates project shapes up as a major political issue in the 1956 election, with Democrats denouncing it as one-sided in favor of private utilities and Republicans upholding it as favorable to the government.

New Cigaret Tax Regulation Ready

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—A new regulation aimed at improving enforcement of tax payment on cigarets sold in vending machines in West Virginia will go into effect July 1.

Any person operating five or more cigaret machines will, under the new regulation, be required to file monthly reports of purchases and sales with the Tax Department.

Such reports are required now from other wholesalers and retailers of cigarets. But they have not been required of vending machine operators, except for the small percentage who buy their cigarets direct from the factory and affix the tax stamps themselves.

Spanish Cardinal Undergoes Surgery To Save His Life

SEVILLA, Spain, June 10 (AP)—Pedro Cardinal Seguray Saenz, 75-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Sevilla, underwent a surgical operation today to correct a urethral obstruction which nearly cost him his life a few weeks ago.

The cardinal was reported to have withstood the operation well. His surgeon said there was no danger that complications would set in.

The prelate is an outspoken foe of Protestantism and has frequently clashed with the Spanish government. A coadjutor, Archbishop Jose Maria Bueno y Monreal, was named by the church last year to supplant him as administrator of the archdiocese.

Dynamite Blast Destroys Historic Old Oak Tree

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., June 10 (AP)—Residents expressed shock today over the apparently senseless dynamiting Wednesday night of the historic old Revolutionary Oak in New Garden Cemetery here.

The explosion may have killed the tree which survived the rain of rifle fire unleashed March 15, 1781, by the armies of Colonial Gen. Nathanael Greene and Britain's Lord Cornwallis in the Battle of Guilford Court House.

The explosion went off while Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was addressing an overflow crowd of more than 1,000 persons at New Garden Friends meeting house, 300 yards from the tree on the campus of the Quaker college.

"Five million dollars couldn't replace it," said C. O. Knight, president of the cemetery association.

Others said the blast was the largest and latest in a series of explosions set off by unknown persons in the last two years.

"This is probably a salute—if you want to call it that—to Mrs. Roosevelt," said Dr. James G. Crutchfield, an association trustee.

Sheriff's officers said they had no trace of the explosive or the dynamiter.

Legend has it that the immense, flat-topped tree, had its top eaten out by Gen Cornwallis' horse.

Scheele Says Polio Serum Is Now Safe

Agencies Differ As O'Connor Is Critical Of Long Awaited Paper

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele said late today the polio vaccine program "Might have come close to the line of safety" in the past but he is quite sure about safety now and "we can go forward."

He spoke at a news conference after new evidence cropped out of strained relations between two agencies battling polio—the Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

There were hints, too, of differences between the Health Service headed by Scheele and Dr. Jonas E. Salk, vaccine inventor.

O'Connor Is Critical

Basil O'Connor, president of the polio foundation, was critical of a long-awaited, voluminous "white paper" put out by the Health Service detailing difficulties in the vaccine program.

O'Connor indicated there is still more to be told. He said the report, released early today, gave only the Health Service's version. He added:

"When the public has heard of Dr. Jonas E. Salk's version, it will be able to form an intelligent conclusion as to what has actually been transpiring."

Asked about this, Scheele said he suspects O'Connor would have liked for the white paper to have reported more fully on the cause of suspected defects in a few lots of vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif. The report said the Health Service has been unable to find the cause. Scheele added this information simply "is not ready."

"As to what he means by the Salk version and this version," Scheele commented, "You will have to ask him or Dr. Salk."

No Suggestion Of Resuming

In all today's developments there was no suggestion when the vaccine program will be resumed on a full-scale basis.

1. Scheele said the decision to continue the mass vaccination program among first and second grade school children, carried out by the polio foundation, was based on a "preponderance of opinion" among informed scientists that the vaccine can be made safely, under new production and testing standards.

2. Dr. James A. Shannon, an associate director of the National Institutes of Health, disclosed that one lot of vaccine made by Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa., is undergoing the same intensive studies as the suspect lots of Cutter vaccine.

Shannon said as a rough estimate about 100,000 shots from this lot had been used in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio. He said the manufacturer has withdrawn unused portions, although there was not enough evidence to say the vaccine was suspect.

The white paper said three cases of polio after injection of the Wyeth vaccine lot "again raised the question of coincidence versus association with vaccination: paralysis beginning in the injected extremity, and a 10-to-14 day interval between injection and paralysis." That is the most frequent interval between exposure to polio and the outbreak of symptoms.

Scheele said with the new revisions and increased sensitivity in testing, scientists "can pick up faulty lots in the future."

Huge Cocaine Cargo Seized

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Federal authorities reported today that a narcotics syndicate has a billion dollars worth of cocaine stored in Mexico for smuggling into the United States.

The report came with the disclosure that officers have already seized one shipment, worth $2,500,000 and tabbed the biggest ever netted in this country.

Federal authorities in Brooklyn said the shipment was found with the arrest of two messengers who brought the cocaine to New York City from Mexico.

It was indicated also that officials know the identity of the syndicate's chief, identified only as a "Senor X," and are on the lookout for him.

Operations of the vast dope enterprise were made public today when a sealed indictment, charging the two messengers with various federal narcotics law violations, was opened in Brooklyn federal court.

Swiss Newspaper Denied Correspondent

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 10 (AP)—Yugoslavia has denied a Swiss newspaper permission to maintain a correspondent here permanently on the ground its reporting of events in this country was "unobjective, malicious and systematically tendentious."

That was the statement today of Brank Draskovic, chief of the information section of the Yugoslav Foreign Office, in explaining why permanent accreditation had been denied Victor Mayer, correspondent for the Neue Zuercher (Zurich) Zeitung.

Dulles To Speak

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles plans to deliver a foreign policy speech Sunday night at the University of Indiana's baccalaureate services.

Nose Wheel Shimmy Halts Test Of Wingless Airship

EMPORIA, Va., June 10 (AP)—A shimmying nose wheel disrupted plans for the initial flight of a wingless airship today but failed to shake the faith of its amateur inventor that the revolutionary gadget will fly.

For Charles Pritchard, an undaunted railroad gang foreman, it simply meant a delay of "10 days or two weeks" while he fixed the shake in the front wheel of the ship's tricycle landing gear.

"I'm still convinced," he said, "that my ship will fly."

A crowd of nearly 1,500 gathered at Emporia airport early today to watch as the strange-looking, octagonal ship made its first attempt to leave the ground.

Built by Pritchard of aluminum, the 800-pound wingless craft has six fins, or baffles, several inches high, which extend almost the entire length of the 21-foot fuselage.

The fins are supposed to keep air "flowing in proper channels over the hull of the ship from nose to stern, creating lift on the entire surface of the ship," Pritchard says.

But in today's first test everything seemed to go wrong.

Pritchard lost steering control shortly after he began his fourth taxi run down the airport's 4,000-foot runway and swerved off the concrete strip into a field.

The ship was pulled back on to the runway by Pritchard's friends.

After one more unsuccessful test run, the craft was placed on a truck and trundled back to Klugel's Metal Shop here where Pritchard built the ship in his spare time.

P. R. Steinman, Richmond, Va., aviation safety agent for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said he instructed Pritchard to fly no higher than 10 feet above the field because Pritchard had no parachute.

Wildcat GM Walkouts End

UAW Looks For New Offer From Auto Company

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers union stomped out the last of a dozen wildcat strikes at General Motors plants today and went back into contract talks with the company, openly expecting a new offer.

UAW Vice President John W. Livingston used an indirect means of expressing the union's anticipation.

Livingston was asked whether GM had yet come up with a second counterproposal to the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage. He replied:

Wildcat Strikes Ended

(No one among a battery of newsmen, public relations men and other company and union officials was familiar with the expression. But the implication was clear to all.)

General Motors and the union reported today that the last of the wildcats—at the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at South Gate, Calif.—had been ended.

The company closed 20 assembly and body plants around the country today. The unauthorized stoppages though short-lived were blamed. About 60,000 workers were idled in all by the closings.

Production is expected to approach normal again by Monday—barring a companywide strike for lack of a contract.

The union's deadline for settlement, postponed from last Tuesday midnight, now is set for Sunday midnight.

But with that deadline only a little more than 48 hours away, nobody on either side seemed worried.

Looks For Settlement

As he announced a five-day contract extension Tuesday, Livingston said he had every reason to believe that a peaceful settlement will be worked out. Since then negotiators from both the company and union have appeared optimistic and jovial.

Some sources felt that GM would have made a new offer before today had it not been for the series of wildcat strikes that plagued production of the industry's biggest producer most of the week. Nearly 41,000 GM workers were affected at the peak of the stoppages.

Any new General Motors offer is expected to be somewhat in line with the UAW's settlement with the Ford Motor Co. last Monday. A highlight of that was a company guarantee of 60 to 65 per cent of normal take-home pay, including state unemployment compensation, for laid off workers.

Soviet To Have Big Atom Plants

MOSCOW June 10 (AP)—Former Premier Georgi Malenkov told Western reporters today the Soviet Union expects to have large atomic power plants in operation within a few years.

Malenkov, now Soviet minister of power stations, said the Soviet plants would be 50,000 and 100,000-kilowatt installations. His conversation with the reporters took place at an Indian Embassy garden party honoring India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Malenkov appeared completely at ease as he laughed and joked with reporters. He joined the journalists casually during a stroll about the Embassy grounds.

The former Premier said Nehru "apparently" was going to visit a 5,000-kilowatt atomic pilot plant already in operation "because he is greatly interested in this question." A reporter asked Malenkov if Western journalists might visit the plant.

"It is possible your chance will come," Malenkov said.

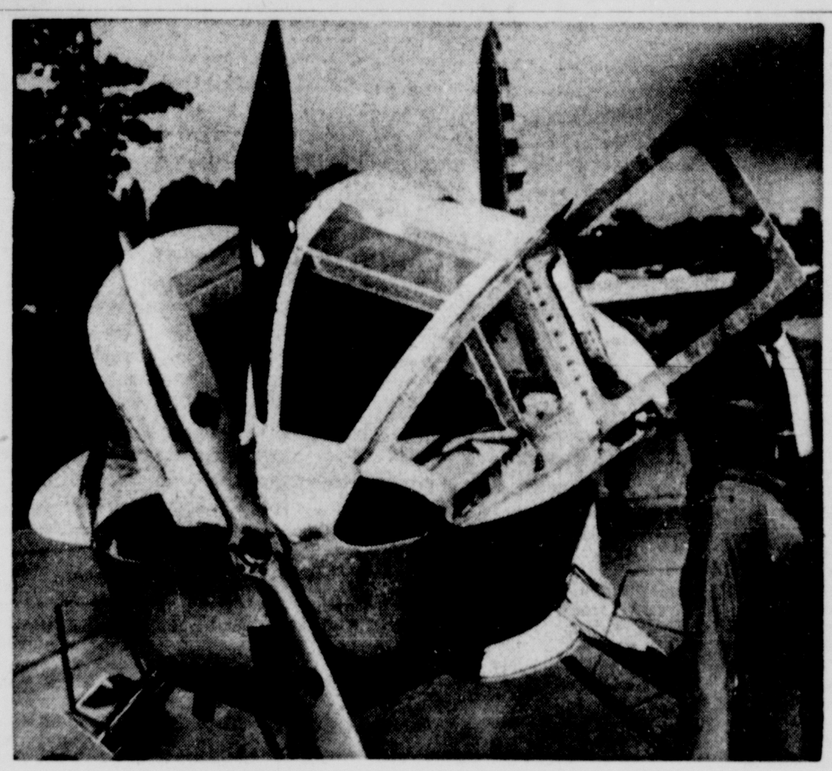

New Freedom Hint For Pilots Is Given

MISSOULA, Mont., June 10 (AP)—A new hint of freedom for more U. S. airmen held by Red China has come in a letter to a prisoner's wife.

Mrs. Marjorie Llewellyn, 29, of Missoula, said today she received a letter dated May 30 from the Chinese Red Cross in Peiping. That was the day Red China freed four U. S. fliers.

The letter said in part: "Premier Chou En-lai is in deep sympathy with the difficult situation for Cap. Elmer Llewellyn's family."

The Red Cross letter added that an offer to relatives to visit the men in China still stands.

It Doesn't Fly Yet

Its crew rolls out the wingless airship which has been designed and built by Charles Pritchard, 46, of Emporia, Va., for its test flight but mechanical trouble yesterday prevented its takeoff on its initial flight. A shimmy in the nose wheel caused the flight's postponement. Pritchard says plane will fly. (See story bottom of page).

Steel Workers Ask Pay Boost In Pact Talks

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP)—CIO United Steelworkers negotiators today completed presentation of their case for a "substantial" pay boost to six of the nation's largest basic steel producers.

Talks with Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland Steel recessed indefinitely, marking the end of the initial phase of 1955 negotiations.

Officials of the three firms thus joined executives of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic in getting down to serious study of the USW demands. The latter heard union arguments in previous conferences.

Shortly before the first round of talks drew to a close today, USW President David J. McDonald went before union bargaining committees at a closed meeting to review union objectives and to sum up the negotiations to date. Union spokesmen declined to discuss what he said.

Sessions this week were devoted almost exclusively to the union's proposals. Headed by McDonald, USW committees told each company separately why they believe steelworkers should receive a healthy wage increase.

The six companies, which employ more than 400,000 of the 600,000 USW members in basic steel, may notify the union at any time that they are prepared to go back to the bargaining table.

It's likely, but not definite, that talks will resume sometime next week. At that time industry negotiators probably will present counter-proposals and the "give-and-take" phase will get under way.

Negotiations are being conducted under a wage reopening clause in a two-year contract signed last year. Industry officials have expressed no desire to discuss any guaranteed annual wage plan voluntarily, which means this issue can't be brought up until next year.

Except for stating that it seeks a sizable pay hike, the USW has not disclosed publicly what it is demanding. Company bargainers haven't made any comment on the union proposals.

Nehru And Bulganin Hold Lengthy Talks

MOSCOW, June 10 (AP)—India's Prime Minister Nehru and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin held another lengthy conference today on world problems. No details were announced, but Soviet Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev said he is satisfied the way the Indian-Russian talks are going.

Khrushchev made his comment to Western reporters at an Indian Embassy garden party honoring Nehru.

Actor "Satisfactory"

House Group Rejects Ike's Plea For $6,500,000 For Dixon-Yates Power Lines

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee voted in effect today to strand the Dixon-Yates power project in the middle of the Mississippi River.

It refused to approve $6,500,000 requested by President Eisenhower to build a transmission line to carry power from the proposed Dixon-Yates plant to West Memphis, Ark., into the Tennessee Valley Authority distribution system.

Instead, it diverted the $6,500,000 to start construction of a TVA steam plant at Fulton, Tenn., to furnish power which the Dixon-Yates plant would have provided.

Under provisions of a contract the Dixon-Yates group has with the Atomic Energy Commission, the private utility operators are supposed to build a transmission line to the middle of the Mississippi River, with the TVA picking up the power at that point.

The 23-to-19 vote by which the committee decided to choke off the Dixon-Yates project forecast a sharp battle when the House itself votes late next week. It will be the first time the Democratic controlled 84th Congress has had an opportunity to vote on the controversial Dixon-Yates contract which was approved indirectly by the Republican-dominated 83rd Congress.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) declared the committee action "kills the Dixon-Yates deal because it doesn't give them an outlet for their power."

Cannon predicted that the House would uphold the committee, but conceded the outcome would be close.

"There is no need for Dixon-Yates," he said. "The Fulton plant can provide the necessary power."

Rep. Phillips (R-Calif), who fought against the action behind the closed doors of the committee, said he was confident the House would upset the committee.

"And if it doesn't, there's no doubt that the Senate will upset it," Phillips added.

Whatever the outcome of the House voting, the Dixon-Yates project shapes up as a major political issue in the 1956 election, with Democrats denouncing it as one-sided in favor of private utilities and Republicans upholding it as favorable to the government.

New Cigaret Tax Regulation Ready

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—A new regulation aimed at improving enforcement of tax payment on cigarets sold in vending machines in West Virginia will go into effect July 1.

Any person operating five or more cigaret machines will, under the new regulation, be required to file monthly reports of purchases and sales with the Tax Department.

Such reports are required now from other wholesalers and retailers of cigarets. But they have not been required of vending machine operators, except for the small percentage who buy their cigarets direct from the factory and affix the tax stamps themselves.

Spanish Cardinal Undergoes Surgery To Save His Life

SEVILLA, Spain, June 10 (AP)—Pedro Cardinal Seguray Saenz, 75-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Sevilla, underwent a surgical operation today to correct a urethral obstruction which nearly cost him his life a few weeks ago.

The cardinal was reported to have withstood the operation well. His surgeon said there was no danger that complications would set in.

The prelate is an outspoken foe of Protestantism and has frequently clashed with the Spanish government. A coadjutor, Archbishop Jose Maria Bueno y Monreal, was named by the church last year to supplant him as administrator of the archdiocese.

Dynamite Blast Destroys Historic Old Oak Tree

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., June 10 (AP)—Residents expressed shock today over the apparently senseless dynamiting Wednesday night of the historic old Revolutionary Oak in New Garden Cemetery here.

The explosion may have killed the tree which survived the rain of rifle fire unleashed March 15, 1781, by the armies of Colonial Gen. Nathanael Greene and Britain's Lord Cornwallis in the Battle of Guilford Court House.

The explosion went off while Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was addressing an overflow crowd of more than 1,000 persons at New Garden Friends meeting house, 300 yards from the tree on the campus of the Quaker college.

"Five million dollars couldn't replace it," said C. O. Knight, president of the cemetery association.

Others said the blast was the largest and latest in a series of explosions set off by unknown persons in the last two years.

"This is probably a salute—if you want to call it that—to Mrs. Roosevelt," said Dr. James G. Crutchfield, an association trustee.

Sheriff's officers said they had no trace of the explosive or the dynamiter.

Scheele Says Polio Serum Is Now Safe

Agencies Differ As O'Connor Is Critical Of Long Awaited Paper

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele said late today the polio vaccine program "Might have come close to the line of safety" in the past but he is quite sure about safety now and "we can go forward."

He spoke at a news conference after new evidence cropped out of strained relations between two agencies battling polio—the Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

There were hints, too, of differences between the Health Service headed by Scheele and Dr. Jonas E. Salk, vaccine inventor.

O'Connor Is Critical

Basil O'Connor, president of the polio foundation, was critical of a long-awaited, voluminous "white paper" put out by the Health Service detailing difficulties in the vaccine program.

O'Connor indicated there is still more to be told. He said the report, released early today, gave only the Health Service's version. He added:

"When the public has heard of Dr. Jonas E. Salk's version, it will be able to form an intelligent conclusion as to what has actually been transpiring."

Asked about this, Scheele said he suspects O'Connor would have liked for the white paper to have reported more fully on the cause of suspected defects in a few lots of vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif. The report said the Health Service has been unable to find the cause. Scheele added this information simply "is not ready."

"As to what he means by the Salk version and this version," Scheele commented, "You will have to ask him or Dr. Salk."

No Suggestion Of Resuming

In all today's developments there was no suggestion when the vaccine program will be resumed on a full-scale basis.

1. Scheele said the decision to continue the mass vaccination program among first and second grade school children, carried out by the polio foundation, was based on a "preponderance of opinion" among informed scientists that the vaccine can be made safely, under new production and testing standards.

2. Dr. James A. Shannon, an associate director of the National Institutes of Health, disclosed that one lot of vaccine made by Wyeth Laboratories, Marietta, Pa., is undergoing the same intensive studies as the suspect lots of Cutter vaccine.

Shannon said as a rough estimate about 100,000 shots from this lot had been used in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio. He said the manufacturer has withdrawn unused portions, although there was not enough evidence to say the vaccine was suspect.

The white paper said three cases of polio after injection of the Wyeth vaccine lot "again raised the question of coincidence versus association with vaccination: paralysis beginning in the injected extremity, and a 10-to-14 day interval between injection and paralysis." That is the most frequent interval between exposure to polio and the outbreak of symptoms.

Scheele said with the new revisions and increased sensitivity in testing, scientists "can pick up faulty lots in the future."

Huge Cocaine Cargo Seized

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Federal authorities reported today that a narcotics syndicate has a billion dollars worth of cocaine stored in Mexico for smuggling into the United States.

The report came with the disclosure that officers have already seized one shipment, worth $2,500,000 and tabbed the biggest ever netted in this country.

Federal authorities in Brooklyn said the shipment was found with the arrest of two messengers who brought the cocaine to New York City from Mexico.

It was indicated also that officials know the identity of the syndicate's chief, identified only as a "Senor X," and are on the lookout for him.

Operations of the vast dope enterprise were made public today when a sealed indictment, charging the two messengers with various federal narcotics law violations, was opened in Brooklyn federal court.

M'Keldin Vetoes Surplus Measure

Says Bill "Unwise And Unnecessary"

ANNAPOLIS, June 10 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today described as "unwise and unnecessary" an act by the 1955 Legislature which would have required that any surplus general funds over two million dollars be used toward capital improvement projects.

"State fiscal officials disapprove the bill," McKeldin said in explaining why he vetoed it. "It is another example of advance legislation against an indefinite future fiscal situation which cannot be accurately determined until the 1956 session."

In the past, McKeldin said, the State has been able to use surplus money toward meeting its next year's budget, or on a few occasions to reduce taxes.

Face Revenue Problems

"Moreover," he noted, "we are no longer in an era of mounting surplus accumulations, but are faced with serious revenue raising problems, as the State's fixed obligations under existing law for such items as public schools, the pension fund and similar charges, automatically increase while the cost of government generally also mounts.

"Under all the circumstances, I believe (the bill) is unwise and unnecessary."

Democratic fiscal leaders who sponsored the bill saw it as putting check reins on the executive department in using surplus money for general state spending, if such a surplus should again develop. By requiring that the excess go toward capital improvements, now financed solely by the property tax, they also hoped for eventual reduction of that rate. The surplus has been under two million the past two years, and new revenue had to be found this year to make the budget balance.

The veto message was among eight released by the governor today, completing explanations of all but one of the 63 measures he rejected at his last bill signing in Baltimore April 28.

Message Still Pending

Still pending is his veto message for a measure which would have increased membership of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission from six to eight and require that six of them be appointed by county commissioners.

The only other statewide bill in today's batch was another fiscal issue between Democratic legislative leaders and the Republican state administration. It would have postponed for a second year motor vehicle registration fee increases originally scheduled to take effect this year.

The fees were earmarked for maintenance in the State's 12-year roads program. Because of the increase not going into effect, funds were transferred from construction projects to maintenance within the program. McKeldin observed this "may create a deficiency of construction money already programmed" and that this will have to be taken into consideration next year.

Other Vetoes Described

Among other veto messages today:

He said he vetoed a bill to add Upper Montgomery County to the jurisdiction of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission because "many residents . . . expressed objection." He also noted the area was largely rural and said such extension would seem "premature and unnecessary."

Another rejected bill would have authorized the commission to acquire land in Montgomery County for highways, school sites and other public uses. McKeldin said this would expand the commission's funcations "into new fields adequately covered by existing agencies."

Still another veto dealt with authority for Baltimore County taxicabs to pick up return fares in Baltimore City. McKeldin said this posed an "impossible" supervision job for the Public Service Commission.

British Strike Parleys Bring No Agreements

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—The British Transport Commission had a three-hour parley today with railway strike leaders, but there was no immediate agreement. There was a peace talk, too, over the dock walkout. The dockers came out saying "The strike goes on."

The rail strike, now 13 days old, threatens a creeping paralysis of industry. Motor manufacturers announced they are planning their export production on a day-to-day basis and said the supply situation is worsening.

The railmen's talks centered on new proposals by the commission, which runs the nationalized railways.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen is demanding pay boosts for its 67,000 members to restore their differentials over less skilled railmen. The basic pay of the engine crewmen is the equivalent of $27.30 for a 44-hour week. They want $1.12 more.

ASLEF was reported ready to accept most of the commission's new plan. Hopes of a quick settlement, however, apparently rested on leaders of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, which represents lower grades on the railroads.

The 400,000 men of these grades are not on strike. But the commission is worried that a handout to the engineers and firemen might start new wage demands among the others, who got a pay hike in January.

The talks reopen tomorrow. Transport experts said if they succeed, they could get the railroads back to full operations by Monday. If they fail, the government is expected to step in with a drastic reorganization of highway transport to keep the nation's fuel and food lifelines open.

Wheat Parity Price Lowered

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today announced that a minimum support price for wheat on the 1956 crop will be 76 percent of parity compared with 82½ percent on the 1955 crop.

Immediately following the release of the monthly crop report today, the department said the minimum national average support price for 1956 crop wheat will be $1.81 cents a bushel if acreage quotas are approved in the June 25 referendum.

This compares with an average of $2.06 for the 1955 crop.

On June 25 wheat farmers of the nation will go to the polls to see if the wheat quota system under which individual farmers are restricted to a certain acreage is to be continued in 1956.

Continuance will require a two thirds vote of approval.

If quotas are not approved, the available support level under present legislation will be at 50 per cent of parity or about $1.19 a bushel on the basis of present parity estimates.

The department took today's action under the flexible price support program which went into effect this year. Wheat during war and post war years had been supported at 90 per cent of parity until this year when Secretary Benson set the figure at 82½ per cent of parity.

Colored Tax Forms To Be Discarded

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del) said today the Treasury had advised Congress it would not use next year tax forms with colored stripes which disclose the taxpayers' gross income.

This year the Treasury mailed out the forms with stripes which distinguished between taxpayers previously reporting gross incomes above $10,000 and those below that figure.

Treasury officials said some distinguishing marks were needed so that the right packages were mailed to taxpayers.

Young Negro Got What He Wanted

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP) — A young Negro kept hanging around today after Thomas F. Keen, manager of a finance company, turned him down for a $500 loan as a poor risk.

"What else do you want to know," asked Keen.

Navy Employe Says Sailor Caps Okayed For "Favors"

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A Navy employe testified today thousands of defective sailor caps made by millionaire Harry Lev's firm "slipped past" his inspection while he was accepting favors from Lev's partner.

Navy officials, meanwhile, disclosed they are seeking to recover $70,418 from Lev on grounds he "salted" his shipments with the "seriously substandard" caps which had been rejected earlier.

And Sen. Mundt (R-SD) insisted either Lev or another witness was lying, and a grand jury ought to identify who was "perjurious."

These were highlights late today in a Senate Investigations subcommittee inquiry into alleged graft and favoritism in military uniform purchases. For the fourth straight day the spotlight fell today on Lev, who made a fortune selling hats to the armed forces.

"I deserve from the committee a congressional medal," the Chicago manufacturer said, voicing resentment at repeated references by Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) to "stinky deals."

Bender retorted he still thinks Lev's deals are stinky. . . "You evade, you equivocate, you fence. . . you are a clever man."

"You think so?" Lev asked, looking pleased.

He offered to give Bender all his profits from the two-million-dollar contract for Navy hats. Lev had testified previously he expects no profit on the venture.

And Lev also appeared offended at suggestions he paid blackmail or bribes to a beautiful government purchasing employe.

"Please. . . 'No, sir,'" Lev responded when subcommittee counsel suggested blackmail may have been the subject of a 34-minute telephone call from Lev to Mrs. Mella Hort in June 1953. Lev said he couldn't recall the conversation at all.

The Navy inspector who admitted receiving favors was Henry B. Vining of San Patricio, Puerto Rico, where Lev's Spencer manufacturing plant made the sailor caps.

Vining said that from approximately May to November 1954, he allowed Lev's partner, Maurice Ades, to pay his bill at the La Palma Hotel. But Vining insisted he had reimbursed Ades in cash. He said he has no records to prove the reimbursement.

Radio Alarm Doesn't Work

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP)—Despite a radio alarm broadcast by a radio disk jockey, two robbers completed a leisurely robbery of an insurance company in an office building today, and escaped with $4,707.

Sig Sackowicz, 32, an announcer on his way to work in the fifth floor studios of radio station WAAF, saw the robbers in the adjacent offices of Western and Southern Life Insurance Co.

He slipped into a studio where Vince Garrity was broadcasting his program, "Breakfast Express," and dialed the police phone number, telling Garrity that two gunmen were holding some 35 employes of the firm under guard next door.

Garrity turned down the volume of his theme song which was being broadcast, and switched on a microphone through which he broadcast "a robbery is in progress and asked listeners to call police.

Garrity said some 700 listeners telephoned the radio station, many asking if the broadcast was a gag.

Visit Is Important Yugo Envoy States

TROY, N. Y. June 10 (AP)—James W. Riddleberger, U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, said today he attached "the greatest importance" to the visit Russian leaders paid last month to Yugoslavia.

"When the Soviet top command comes right out and admits to the world that it is wrong, I call that fantastic," Riddleberger said in an interview with the Troy Times-Record. "But believe me, I attach the greatest importance to it."

Riddleberger returned this week from Belgrade, where Soviet leaders apologized to Yugoslav President Tito for having kicked him out of the Cominform in 1948.

Ike Plans Atomic Talk

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., June 10 (AP) —President Eisenhower's commencement address at Pennsylvania State University here tomorrow will be a major speech dealing with the international aspects of atomic energy.

Hyde, Butler Oppose AF Move

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) — A Hoover Commission official today opposed the Air Forces plan to move its Air Research and Development Center and headquarters from Baltimore to Dayton, O.

Dr. M. J. Kelly, head of a Hoover Commission task force, told the House Armed Services Committee in a telegram the headquarters should be located within 25 miles of Washington.

The committee is considering a bill which would authorize construction of a six million dollar building at Wright-Patterson Air Base for ARDC.

Appearing before Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) in favor of the measure were Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, commanding officer of ARDC, and Assistant Secretary for Air Trevor Gardner.

They said the shift is needed in the interests of stepping up the development of new weapons.

19 Priests Get New Assignments At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP) — Eleven Catholic priests were transferred and eight newly ordained were given their first assignments today in the Archdiocese of Baltimore by Archbishop Keough.

Two of the changes involved pastorates. The Rev. Charles J. Walker, a priest since 1929, was transferred as pastor of St. Joseph's in Taneytown to All Saints in Baltimore to fill a vacancy.

The Rev. Stephen D. Melycher will become a pastor for the first time when he succeeds Father Walker at St. Joseph's. Father Melycher, ordained in 1936, has been at St. Matthew's in Baltimore since 1952. His place there will be taken by the Rev. Thomas M. Kelly, formerly of St. Mary's Star of the Sea.

Other transfers were:

Rev. William K. Dunn from All Saints to St. Vincents; Rev. Thomas J. Fannon from St. Vincent's to Our Lady of Mount Carmel in Middle River; Rev. Francis A. Morris from St. Mary's in Govans to Immaculate Conception in Towson; Rev. James S. Noyes from St. Anthony's to Holy Cross; Rev. Paul Dolan from St. Clement's in Rosedale to St. Mary's in Govans; Rev. Francis W. Fortenbaugh from Immaculate Heart of Mary in Towson to St. John the Evangelist; Rev. Gilbert Gadow from St. John the Evangelist to St. Mary's Star of the Sea, and Rev. Edward J. Stroup from St. Charles Borromeo's in Pikesville to St. John's in Westminster.

Those receiving their first assignment since being ordained by Archbishop Keough last May 28 are:

Rev. Joseph J. Gallagher, Cathedral of the Assumption; Rev. Stanley J. Janaites, St. Jane Frances de Chantel in Riviera Beach; Rev. Eugene V. Kirsch, St. Anthony's; Rev. Joseph F. Kitko, St. Charles Borromeo in Pikesville; Rev. Charles L. Lafferty, St. Clement's in Rosedale; Rev. Aloysius A. Lieu, Stella Maris Hospice in Towson; Rev. Martin M. Strempeck, St. Stephen's in Bradshaw; Rev. Gerard G. Trageser, Immaculate Heart of Mary in Towson.

Church To Hold Procession In Cathedral In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 10 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church moved ahead today with plans to hold its Corpus Christi procession inside Metropolitan Cathedral facing Buenos Aires' central square.

Police have banned the square—historic Plaza de Mayo—as the site for the procession tomorrow in honor of the Eucharist.

By switching the ceremony inside the buff-colored colonial-age cathedral, church authorities will comply technically at least with the orders of President Juan D. Peron's government.

The cathedral holds 5,000, and if an enthusiastic crowd spills out into the square trouble with police could erupt.

High church sources said Catholic leaders have told government officials the procession will take place inside the cathedral but added "we wash our hands" of what the people may do.

Some church sources said the occasion may attract one of the largest Catholic crowds in recent months in this country, where the church and the Peron government have been feuding since last November.

In an apparent effort to counter a big turnout, pro-government newspapers have been splurging plans to welcome home Pascual Perez, the world flyweight champion who is scheduled to land at exactly the same hour in the afternoon as the procession in the cathedral begins.

President Peron will probably greet Perez. Labor unions called on their members to be on hand to celebrate the homecoming of the fighter, who retained his title in a bout with Japan's Yoshio Shira in Tokyo on May 30.

Corpus Christi falls on the Thursday following Trinity Sunday. The government has abolished most religious holidays, including Corpus Christi, and declared them regular working days. Church officials decided to switch the procession in Buenos Aires to tomorrow, so more working people could attend. They have been calling on churchgoers for more than a week to take part.

Young D'Alesandro graduated from Loyola and from the University of Maryland law school. He recently completed a tour of duty in the Armed Services.

His law partner is J. Yosef Miliman.

Price Of Gasoline Raised In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—The price of motor fuel went up a penny a gallon at some of the state's service stations today. At others, it remained unchanged as a new tax law went into effect.

Effective last midnight, the state's gasoline and motor fuel tax—paid by the first distributor or distributor to handle supplies in West Virginia—climbed from five to six cents a gallon.

M'Keldin Vetoes Surplus Measure

Says Bill "Unwise And Unnecessary"

ANNAPOLIS, June 10 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today described as "unwise and unnecessary" an act by the 1955 Legislature which would have required that any surplus general funds over two million dollars be used toward capital improvement projects.

"State fiscal officials disapprove the bill," McKeldin said in explaining why he vetoed it. "It is another example of advance legislation against an indefinite future fiscal situation which cannot be accurately determined until the 1956 session."

In the past, McKeldin said, the State has been able to use surplus money toward meeting its next year's budget, or on a few occasions to reduce taxes.

Face Revenue Problems

"Moreover," he noted, "we are no longer in an era of mounting surplus accumulations, but are faced with serious revenue raising problems, as the State's fixed obligations under existing law for such items as public schools, the pension fund and similar charges, automatically increase while the cost of government generally also mounts.

"Under all the circumstances, I believe (the bill) is unwise and unnecessary."

Democratic fiscal leaders who sponsored the bill saw it as putting check reins on the executive department in using surplus money for general state spending, if such a surplus should again develop. By requiring that the excess go toward capital improvements, now financed solely by the property tax, they also hoped for eventual reduction of that rate. The surplus has been under two million the past two years, and new revenue had to be found this year to make the budget balance.

The veto message was among eight released by the governor today, completing explanations of all but one of the 63 measures he rejected at his last bill signing in Baltimore April 28.

Message Still Pending

Still pending is his veto message for a measure which would have increased membership of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission from six to eight and require that six of them be appointed by county commissioners.

The only other statewide bill in today's batch was another fiscal issue between Democratic legislative leaders and the Republican state administration. It would have postponed for a second year motor vehicle registration fee increases originally scheduled to take effect this year.

The fees were earmarked for maintenance in the State's 12-year roads program. Because of the increase not going into effect, funds were transferred from construction projects to maintenance within the program. McKeldin observed this "may create a deficiency of construction money already programmed" and that this will have to be taken into consideration next year.

Other Vetoes Described

Among other veto messages today:

He said he vetoed a bill to add Upper Montgomery County to the jurisdiction of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission because "many residents . . . expressed objection." He also noted the area was largely rural and said such extension would seem "premature and unnecessary."

Another rejected bill would have authorized the commission to acquire land in Montgomery County for highways, school sites and other public uses. McKeldin said this would expand the commission's funcations "into new fields adequately covered by existing agencies."

Still another veto dealt with authority for Baltimore County taxicabs to pick up return fares in Baltimore City. McKeldin said this posed an "impossible" supervision job for the Public Service Commission.

British Strike Parleys Bring No Agreements

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—The British Transport Commission had a three-hour parley today with railway strike leaders, but there was no immediate agreement. There was a peace talk, too, over the dock walkout. The dockers came out saying "The strike goes on."

The rail strike, now 13 days old, threatens a creeping paralysis of industry. Motor manufacturers announced they are planning their export production on a day-to-day basis and said the supply situation is worsening.

The railmen's talks centered on new proposals by the commission, which runs the nationalized railways.

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen is demanding pay boosts for its 67,000 members to restore their differentials over less skilled railmen. The basic pay of the engine crewmen is the equivalent of $27.30 for a 44-hour week. They want $1.12 more.

ASLEF was reported ready to accept most of the commission's new plan. Hopes of a quick settlement, however, apparently rested on leaders of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, which represents lower grades on the railroads.

The 400,000 men of these grades are not on strike. But the commission is worried that a handout to the engineers and firemen might start new wage demands among the others, who got a pay hike in January.

The talks reopen tomorrow. Transport experts said if they succeed, they could get the railroads back to full operations by Monday. If they fail, the government is expected to step in with a drastic reorganization of highway transport to keep the nation's fuel and food lifelines open.

Wheat Parity Price Lowered

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today announced that a minimum support price for wheat on the 1956 crop will be 76 percent of parity compared with 82½ percent on the 1955 crop.

Immediately following the release of the monthly crop report today, the department said the minimum national average support price for 1956 crop wheat will be $1.81 cents a bushel if acreage quotas are approved in the June 25 referendum.

This compares with an average of $2.06 for the 1955 crop.

On June 25 wheat farmers of the nation will go to the polls to see if the wheat quota system under which individual farmers are restricted to a certain acreage is to be continued in 1956.

Continuance will require a two thirds vote of approval.

If quotas are not approved, the available support level under present legislation will be at 50 per cent of parity or about $1.19 a bushel on the basis of present parity estimates.

The department took today's action under the flexible price support program which went into effect this year. Wheat during war and post war years had been supported at 90 per cent of parity until this year when Secretary Benson set the figure at 82½ per cent of parity.

Colored Tax Forms To Be Discarded

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del) said today the Treasury had advised Congress it would not use next year tax forms with colored stripes which disclose the taxpayers' gross income.

This year the Treasury mailed out the forms with stripes which distinguished between taxpayers previously reporting gross incomes above $10,000 and those below that figure.

Treasury officials said some distinguishing marks were needed so that the right packages were mailed to taxpayers.

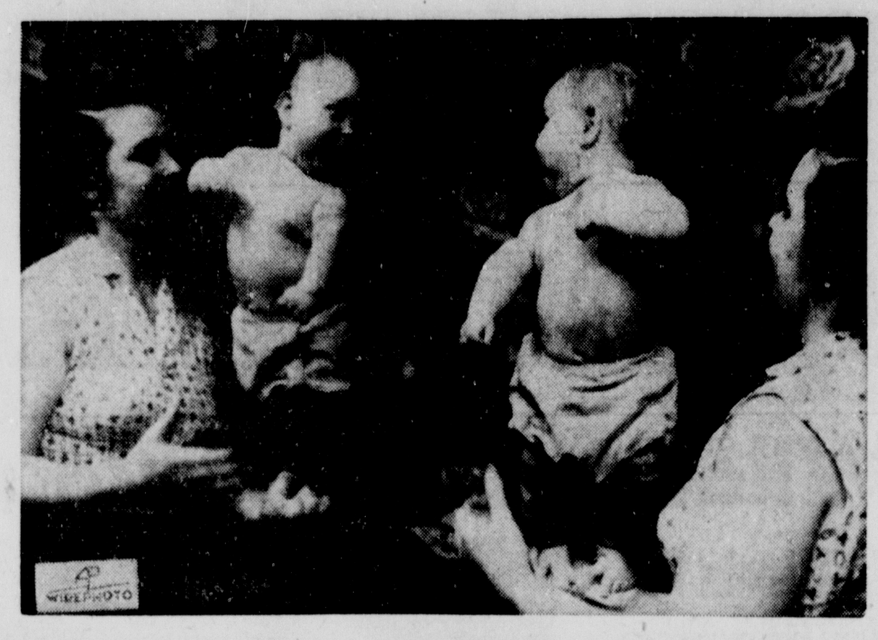

Young Negro Got What He Wanted

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP) — A young Negro kept hanging around today after Thomas F. Keen, manager of a finance company, turned him down for a $500 loan as a poor risk.

"What else do you want to know," asked Keen.

Navy Employe Says Sailor Caps Okayed For "Favors"

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A Navy employe testified today thousands of defective sailor caps made by millionaire Harry Lev's firm "slipped past" his inspection while he was accepting favors from Lev's partner.

Navy officials, meanwhile, disclosed they are seeking to recover $70,418 from Lev on grounds he "salted" his shipments with the "seriously substandard" caps which had been rejected earlier.

And Sen. Mundt (R-SD) insisted either Lev or another witness was lying, and a grand jury ought to identify who was "perjurious."

These were highlights late today in a Senate Investigations subcommittee inquiry into alleged graft and favoritism in military uniform purchases. For the fourth straight day the spotlight fell today on Lev, who made a fortune selling hats to the armed forces.

"I deserve from the committee a congressional medal," the Chicago manufacturer said, voicing resentment at repeated references by Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) to "stinky deals."

Bender retorted he still thinks Lev's deals are stinky. . . "You evade, you equivocate, you fence. . . you are a clever man."

"You think so?" Lev asked, looking pleased.

He offered to give Bender all his profits from the two-million-dollar contract for Navy hats. Lev had testified previously he expects no profit on the venture.

And Lev also appeared offended at suggestions he paid blackmail or bribes to a beautiful government purchasing employe.

"Please. . . 'No, sir," Lev responded when subcommittee counsel suggested blackmail may have been the subject of a 34-minute telephone call from Lev to Mrs. Mella Hort in June 1953. Lev said he couldn't recall the conversation at all.

The Navy inspector who admitted receiving favors was Henry B. Vining of San Patricio, Puerto Rico, where Lev's Spencer manufacturing plant made the sailor caps.

Vining said that from approximately May to November 1954, he allowed Lev's partner, Maurice Ades, to pay his bill at the La Palma Hotel. But Vining insisted he had reimbursed Ades in cash. He said he has no records to prove the reimbursement.

Radio Alarm Doesn't Work

CHICAGO, June 10 (AP)—Despite a radio alarm broadcast by a radio disk jockey, two robbers completed a leisurely robbery of an insurance company in an office building today, and escaped with $4,707.

Sig Sackowicz, 32, an announcer on his way to work in the fifth floor studios of radio station WAAF, saw the robbers in the adjacent offices of Western and Southern Life Insurance Co.

He slipped into a studio where Vince Garrity was broadcasting his program, "Breakfast Express," and dialed the police phone number, telling Garrity that two gunmen were holding some 35 employes of the firm under guard next door.

Garrity turned down the volume of his theme song which was being broadcast, and switched on a microphone through which he broadcast "a robbery is in progress and asked listeners to call police.

Garrity said some 700 listeners telephoned the radio station, many asking if the broadcast was a gag.

Visit Is Important Yugo Envoy States

TROY, N. Y. June 10 (AP)—James W. Riddleberger, U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, said today he attached "the greatest importance" to the visit Russian leaders paid last month to Yugoslavia.

"When the Soviet top command comes right out and admits to the world that it is wrong, I call that fantastic," Riddleberger said in an interview with the Troy Times-Record. "But believe me, I attach the greatest importance to it."

Riddleberger returned this week from Belgrade, where Soviet leaders apologized to Yugoslav President Tito for having kicked him out of the Cominform in 1948.

Ike Plans Atomic Talk

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., June 10 (AP) —President Eisenhower's commencement address at Pennsylvania State University here tomorrow will be a major speech dealing with the international aspects of atomic energy.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, announced the general theme a few hours after the President arrived here from Washington. Eisenhower also will receive an honorary degree.

Hyde, Butler Oppose AF Move

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) — A Hoover Commission official today opposed the Air Forces plan to move its Air Research and Development Center and headquarters from Baltimore to Dayton, O.

Dr. M. J. Kelly, head of a Hoover Commission task force, told the House Armed Services Committee in a telegram the headquarters should be located within 25 miles of Washington.

The committee is considering a bill which would authorize construction of a six million dollar building at Wright-Patterson Air Base for ARDC.

Appearing before Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) in favor of the measure were Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, commanding officer of ARDC, and Assistant Secretary for Air Trevor Gardner.

They said the shift is needed in the interests of stepping up the development of new weapons.

19 Priests Get New Assignments At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP) — Eleven Catholic priests were transferred and eight newly ordained were given their first assignments today in the Archdiocese of Baltimore by Archbishop Keough.

Two of the changes involved pastorates. The Rev. Charles J. Walker, a priest since 1929, was transferred as pastor of St. Joseph's in Taneytown to All Saints in Baltimore to fill a vacancy.

The Rev. Stephen D. Melycher will become a pastor for the first time when he succeeds Father Walker at St. Joseph's. Father Melycher, ordained in 1936, has been at St. Matthew's in Baltimore since 1952. His place there will be taken by the Rev. Thomas M. Kelly, formerly of St. Mary's Star of the Sea.

Other transfers were:

Rev. William K. Dunn from All Saints to St. Vincents; Rev. Thomas J. Fannon from St. Vincent's to Our Lady of Mount Carmel in Middle River; Rev. Francis A. Morris from St. Mary's in Govans to Immaculate Conception in Towson; Rev. James S. Noyes from St. Anthony's to Holy Cross; Rev. Paul Dolan from St. Clement's in Rosedale to St. Mary's in Govans; Rev. Francis W. Fortenbaugh from Immaculate Heart of Mary in Towson to St. John the Evangelist; Rev. Gilbert Gadow from St. John the Evangelist to St. Mary's Star of the Sea, and Rev. Edward J. Stroup from St. Charles Borromeo's in Pikesville to St. John's in Westminster.

Those receiving their first assignment since being ordained by Archbishop Keough last May 28 are:

Rev. Joseph J. Gallagher, Cathedral of the Assumption; Rev. Stanley J. Janaites, St. Jane Frances de Chantel in Riviera Beach; Rev. Eugene V. Kirsch, St. Anthony's; Rev. Joseph F. Kitko, St. Charles Borromeo in Pikesville; Rev. Charles L. Lafferty, St. Clement's in Rosedale; Rev. Aloysius A. Lieu, Stella Maris Hospice in Towson; Rev. Martin M. Strempeck, St. Stephen's in Bradshaw; Rev. Gerard G. Trageser, Immaculate Heart of Mary in Towson.

In the United States, half dollars last the longest of the coins, while dimes wear out the quickest. Most coins have a life of about 30 years. Paper money isn't usable after a year.

Church To Hold Procession In Cathedral In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 10 (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church moved ahead today with plans to hold its Corpus Christi procession inside Metropolitan Cathedral facing Buenos Aires' central square.

Police have banned the square—historic Plaza de Mayo—as the site for the procession tomorrow in honor of the Eucharist.

By switching the ceremony inside the buff-colored colonial-age cathedral, church authorities will comply technically at least with the orders of President Juan D. Peron's government.

The cathedral holds 5,000, and if an enthusiastic crowd spills out into the square trouble with police could erupt.

High church sources said Catholic leaders have told government officials the procession will take place inside the cathedral but added "we wash our hands" of what the people may do.

Some church sources said the occasion may attract one of the largest Catholic crowds in recent months in this country, where the church and the Peron government have been feuding since last November.

In an apparent effort to counter a big turnout, pro-government newspapers have been splurging plans to welcome home Pascual Perez, the world flyweight champion who is scheduled to land at exactly the same hour in the afternoon as the procession in the cathedral begins.

President Peron will probably greet Perez. Labor unions called on their members to be on hand to celebrate the homecoming of the fighter, who retained his title in a bout with Japan's Yoshio Shira in Tokyo on May 30.

Corpus Christi falls on the Thursday following Trinity Sunday. The government has abolished most religious holidays, including Corpus Christi, and declared them regular working days. Church officials decided to switch the procession in Buenos Aires to tomorrow, so more working people could attend. They have been calling on churchgoers for more than a week to take part.

D'Alesandro Admitted To State Practice

TOWSON, Md., June 10 (AP)—Thomas D'Alesandro 3d, son of Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, was admitted to practice law today in the Circuit Court of Baltimore County.

Young D'Alesandro graduated from Loyola and from the University of Maryland law school. He recently completed a tour of duty in the Armed Services.

His law partner is J. Yosef Miliman.

Price Of Gasoline Raised In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—The price of motor fuel went up a penny a gallon at some of the state's service stations today. At others, it remained unchanged as a new tax law went into effect.

Effective last midnight, the state's gasoline and motor fuel tax—paid by the first distributor or distributor to handle supplies in West Virginia—climbed from five to six cents a gallon.

Budget Forces Parole Changes

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—Budget-enforced economies in the State Board of Probation and Parole came to light today even as a new law dealing largely with parole procedures went into effect.

One veteran district probation and parole officer confirmed that his employment had been terminated as of June 30. It was understood there would be other such reductions in the department's field force.

Becoming effective today, meanwhile, was an enactment of the regular session of the 1955 Legislature revising to a considerable degree the probation and parole law.

A major change in the statute first enacted in its present general form two years ago provides for annual instead of semi-annual interviews of prison inmates eligible for parole.

The statute also removes a necessity for final approval of paroles by the governor, and vests such authority entirely in the three member Board of Probation and Parole.

Confirming today that he would be out of a job as of June 30 was district officer Robert M. Knott of Shepherdstown, a holder of state positions for 22 years and former director of the department.

Those two tiny figures on top of the wedding cake . . . the bride and the groom . . . are a symbol. They mean that from this day forward two people will be as one . . . joined together in perfect unity, forming the nucleus of a new family group.

They have stood before the church altar, pledging themselves to each other and to God. Their marriage has been started in the right way, with God's blessing upon it.

In the years to come they will look back upon this day, and upon their holy moment together in the Church. They will remember the reception later when they cut this cake, when there was laughter and gaiety and nothing but love around them. When they return to their church on Sundays, they will always see in their minds' eyes their own figures, standing before the altar, taking their holy vow. Little wonder that the Church will always mean so much to them when they have laid the foundation for their happiness within it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Chapman Replies To Criticism Of Roads Setup

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, yesterday read a statement at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in which he answered two of the many charges made by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson concerning the Roads Department.

A partial recount of the answer by Chapman follows:

"He charges and I quote, 'excessive office personnel in the Roads Department and those not qualified for their positions, should be dropped and their places filled with qualified men.'

"The entire office force of the County Road Department consists of two men. One of these men who is at the Union Street office has charge of and prepares the payroll for the roads workers every other week, prepares and keeps the records of all purchase orders, etc. He has been at the Union Street office since January 1942, he was reappointed in 1942 and 1946, both times when Mr. Wilkinson was a county commissioner and again reappointed in 1954 under Lemmert, Orr and Wilkinson. If this man is not qualified for his position, why has it taken 14 years to find it out?

"The other office man is at the Franklin Street garage, he is the time checker, the property custodian and the stock clerk. This man has been with the County Roads Department about a year. He is qualified, experienced and competent and has done an excellent job since he came with us.

"Mr. Wilkinson charges, and I quote: 'The new levy provides for the purchase of heavy equipment to be used by the Roads Department. This new equipment is not needed. We now have heavy equipment in storage but for some unexplained reason, instead of using this equipment, the Roads Supervisor hires identical equipment from private contractors at a great expense to the county. If the Roads Department were operated properly, the budget for that department would be greatly reduced and more efficient service could be rendered to the public.'

"The only true part of the above statement is that the levy provides for the purchase of heavy equipment.

"The first piece provided for, in the levy, is a motor grader to replace one that is now 14 years old. This grader now is not only a great burden of expense because of necessary repairs, but necessitates much loss of time due to break downs. During my four and one half years there has never been a grader hired from a private contractor or otherwise.

"The second piece of equipment provided for in the levy, is a four wheel drive bucket loader. This is a piece, the type of which the county has never owned. In my opinion it is needed because of it's mobility and the many jobs it can do.

"After the 'Hazel' flood last October, the roads supervisor did hire contractor's equipment to expedite the clean up, but at the same time he was using the county equipment which was available for the job. Some of the Roads Department equipment such as shovels and bulldozers are seasonable and of course there are times when they are in storage.

"As to the charge 'if the Roads Department were operated properly, the budget would be greatly reduced and more efficient service could be rendered to the public.' All I wish to say is that after eight years, from 1942 to 1950 of Mr. Wilkinson's sojourn as a county commissioner and the conditions found, not only with the roads, but everything connected with the Roads Department by the present roads supervisor, it might be better for him to be governed by the adage 'That people who live in glass houses should not throw stones.'"

RUBBER BRIDGE VS. MATCH-POINTS

Josephine Culbertson

IT IS often foolish to abandon a contract at rubber bridge when, by taking the slight risk of going down an extra trick the hand may be salvaged, but this line of logic does not necessarily apply to match-point play. Consider this case:

South dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

	♠ A 9 7 4 3 ♥ A 5 2 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ K 5
♠ 10 ♥ J 9 8 6 3 ♦ A 10 7 ♣ A J 9 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 6 2 ♥ Q 10 ♦ K J 8 4 ♣ Q 10 3
	♠ K 8 5 ♥ K 7 4 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ 8 7 6 4

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass

West opened his fourth-highest heart, dummy played low, and South took East's queen. South then led a spade to the ace and returned a low spade. When East played low (trying for two spade stoppers and tricks), South put in the eight as an ordinary safety play. He was glad he had done so when West showed out, discarding a club.

Declarer cashed the spade king, then led a club toward the king. West put up the ace and led another heart. South could gain nothing by ducking, so he won with dummy's ace.

South had taken three spades and two hearts, and the club king was another sure trick, so, if he chose, he could get off with only a 100-point penalty. Apparently, however, he was not satisfied with this. Instead of cashing the club trick he knocked out East's spade stopper, obviously hoping to return to dummy with the club king and cash the established spade for the fulfilling trick. His "bravery" was not rewarded, however. East shifted to a low diamond, and after West won and ran his hearts, the defenders could easily shut out the club king, East taking the last tricks with diamonds.

It was foolish for South to incur a 300-point penalty. He should have seen that minus 100 would give him a good score, since it was obvious that East-West could have made more than that by playing the hand at their own best contract.

Parking For 2,000 Cars Available At Field Mass

James E. Van and Andrew J. Saliga, who are in charge of parking arrangements for the military field mass which will be celebrated Sunday at noon at Marydale, Oldtown Road, for the area war dead, said there will be space available for approximately 2,000 cars.

George F. Garlitz, president of the Men of St. Mary's Catholic Church, the sponsoring organization, emphasized that the mass will be celebrated for all deceased member of the armed forces, regardless of creed, and that the event will be open to the public.

Van said State Police will patrol Route 51, on which Marydale is located, and that members of the local Volunteer Auxiliary Police will handle the traffic on the parish grounds. Directional markers will be used to help direct the traffic, Van said, adding that entrance will be by the main gate, and exit by another route.

Garlitz said Thomas F. Conlon Sr., had supplied the names of all residents carried on the city's honor roll — including those who lost their lives in the Spanish-American War, World Wars I and II and the Korean War. These will be placed on the altar during the mass, Garlitz said.

The military field mass, believed to be the first of its kind ever celebrated here, will be solemn high, Garlitz said. Officials will be Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM. Cap., guardian of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, celebrant; Rev. Francis E. Montgomery, administer of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg, deacon, and Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, sub-deacon. The sermon will be by Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's.

The Men's Choir of St. Mary's will sing the mass under the direction of Peter J. Decker. Organists will be Miss Janet Pisaneschi and Mrs. Ann Moore Newnam. Vocal soloist will be Miss Lois Nehring.

In case of rain, Garlitz said the mass will be postponed until the following Sunday. Arrangements have been made to notify the mass officials, and military units which will participate, in the event of postponement.

Driver Found Guilty In Highway Mishap

The driver of a car figuring in a wreck on Route 40 on Town Hill Thursday that resulted in the hospitalization of two other persons was found guilty on a charge of reckless driving in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

He was Charles William Anger of Port Huron, Mich. He pleaded not guilty to the charge preferred by Tfc. John F. Browning, but was convicted and fined $25 and costs by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

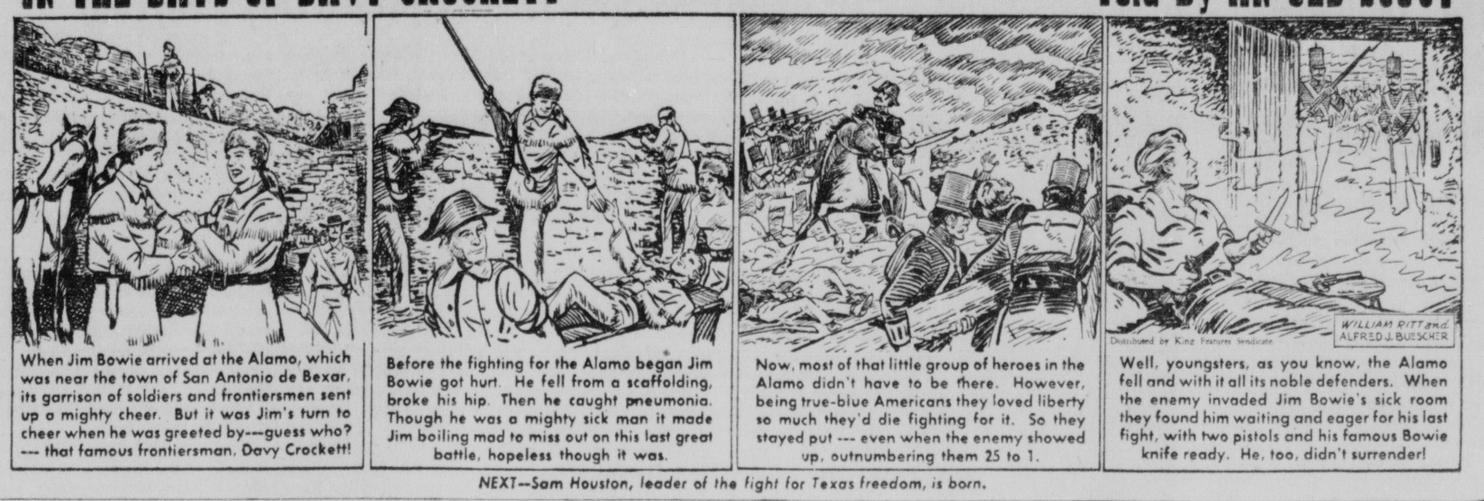

Admitted to the Sacred Heart Hospital and reported in fair condition were two passengers in his auto, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kramp, both 52 and also of Port Huron.

Trooper Browning testified that Anger attempted to pass a truck operated by Harry Leo Lucas of LaVale as they both descended the west side of Town Hill Mountain.

The Michigan car struck the left rear of the truck and swerved across the highway when Anger failed to allow room to pass, Browning said.

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT — Told By AN OLD SCOUT

When Jim Bowie arrived at the Alamo, which was near the town of San Antonio de Bexar, its garrison of soldiers and frontiersmen sent up a mighty cheer. But it was Jim's turn to cheer when he was greeted by---guess who? --- that famous frontiersman, Davy Crockett!

Before the fighting for the Alamo began Jim Bowie got hurt. He fell from a scaffolding, broke his hip. Then he caught pneumonia. Though he was a mighty sick man it made Jim boiling mad to miss out on this last great battle, hopeless though it was.

Now, most of that little group of heroes in the Alamo didn't have to be there. However, being true-blue Americans they loved liberty so much they'd die fighting for it. So they stayed put --- even when the enemy showed up, outnumbering them 25 to 1.

Well, youngsters, as you know, the Alamo fell and with it all its noble defenders. When the enemy invaded Jim Bowie's sick room they found him waiting and eager for his last fight, with two pistols and his famous Bowie knife ready. He, too, didn't surrender!

When the bright lights of evening come, you'll not regret that your measurements tally with the RULE OF TEN.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Neither movie stars nor models have perfect figures. Perfection is well-nigh impossible in the human form. But, if your figure isn't all it should be, and you practically "see" a guilty finger of suspicion pointing at you, maybe you don't measure up and need to be acquainted with our "Rule of Ten" that I mention so often.

Here it is:

Bust and hips measure the same. Waist measures ten inches smaller.

Of course, this rule, like any general rule, has certain qualifications. You must learn how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. And to know what steps to take to make your figure readjustment easiest.

When you measure, stand before a mirror and try your level best to place the measuring tape around the widest part of each area of the body (only exception is your waist measure . . . measure this where the waistline is the smallest). Send for a copy of my booklet, "Do You Measure Up?", addressing your request to me, in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

You wil learn from the above booklet many important facts. For example: It doesn't necessarily follow that if weight and height are balanced, that your measurements will be ideal. You will learn how your frame structure influences the measurements you take. Figures change from generation to generation, but there is always an ideal to strive for—and today's is easy: a natural figure with curves nicely controlled.

Monday—Be charming on paper.

Chapman Replies To Criticism Of Roads Setup

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, yesterday read a statement at the meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in which he answered two of the many charges made by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson concerning the Roads Department.

A partial recount of the answer by Chapman follows:

"He charges and I quote, 'excessive office personnel in the Roads Department and those not qualified for their positions, should be dropped and their places filled with qualified men.'

"The entire office force of the County Road Department consists of two men. One of these men who is at the Union Street office has charge of and prepares the payroll for the roads workers every other week, prepares and keeps the records of all purchase orders, etc. He has been at the Union Street office since January 1942, he was reappointed in 1942 and 1946, both times when Mr. Wilkinson was a county commissioner and again reappointed in 1954 under Lemmert, Orr and Wilkinson. If this man is not qualified for his position, why has it taken 14 years to find it out?

"The other office man is at the Franklin Street garage, he is the time checker, the property custodian and the stock clerk. This man has been with the County Roads Department about a year. He is qualified, experienced and competent and has done an excellent job since he came with us.

"Mr. Wilkinson charges, and I quote: 'The new levy provides for the purchase of heavy equipment to be used by the Roads Department. This new equipment is not needed. We now have heavy equipment in storage but for some unexplained reason, instead of using this equipment, the Roads Supervisor hires identical equipment from private contractors at a great expense to the county. If the Roads Department were operated properly, the budget for that department would be greatly reduced and more efficient service could be rendered to the public.'

"The only true part of the above statement is that the levy provides for the purchase of heavy equipment.

"The first piece provided for, in the levy, is a motor grader to replace one that is now 14 years old. This grader now is not only a great burden of expense because of necessary repairs, but necessitates much loss of time due to break downs. During my four and one half years there has never been a grader hired from a private contractor or otherwise.

"The second piece of equipment provided for in the levy, is a four wheel drive bucket loader. This is a piece, the type of which the county has never owned. In my opinion it is needed because of it's mobility and the many jobs it can do.

"After the 'Hazel' flood last October, the roads supervisor did hire contractor's equipment to expedite the clean up, but at the same time he was using the county equipment which was available for the job. Some of the Roads Department equipment such as shovels and bulldozers are seasonable and of course there are times when they are in storage.

"As to the charge 'if the Roads Department were operated properly, the budget would be greatly reduced and more efficient service could be rendered to the public.' All I wish to say is that after eight years, from 1942 to 1950 of Mr. Wilkinson's sojourn as a county commissioner and the conditions found, not only with the roads, but everything connected with the Roads Department by the present roads supervisor, it might be better for him to be governed by the adage 'That people who live in glass houses should not throw stones.'"

Daily Bridge Lesson

Josephine Culbertson

IT IS often foolish to abandon a contract at rubber bridge when, by taking the slight risk of going down an extra trick the hand may be salvaged, but this line of logic does not necessarily apply to match-point play. Consider this case:

South dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

	♠ A 9 7 4 3 ♥ A 5 2 ♦ Q 6 3 ♣ K 5
♠ 10 ♥ J 9 8 6 3 ♦ A 10 7 ♣ A J 9 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 6 2 ♥ Q 10 ♦ K J 8 4 ♣ Q 10 3
	♠ K 8 5 ♥ K 7 4 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ 8 7 6 4

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Dble.	Pass	Pass
Pass

West opened his fourth-highest heart, dummy played low, and South took East's queen. South then led a spade to the ace and returned a low spade. When East played low (trying for two spade stoppers and tricks), South put in the eight as an ordinary safety play. He was glad he had done so when West showed out, discarding a club.

Apparently, however, he was not satisfied with this. Instead of cashing the club trick he knocked out East's spade stopper, obviously hoping to return to dummy with the club king and cash the established spade for the fulfilling trick. His "bravery" was not rewarded, however. East shifted to a low diamond, and after West won and ran his hearts, the defenders could easily shut out the club king, East taking the last tricks with diamonds.

It was foolish for South to incur a 300-point penalty. He should have seen that minus 100 would give him a good score, since it was obvious that East-West could have made more than that by playing the hand at their own best contract.

When the bright lights of evening come, you'll not regret that your measurements tally with the RULE OF TEN.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Neither movie stars nor models have perfect figures. Perfection is well-nigh impossible in the human form. But, if your figure isn't all it should be, and you practically "see" a guilty finger of suspicion pointing at you, maybe you don't measure up and need to be acquainted with our "Rule of Ten" that I mention so often.

Here it is:

Bust and hips measure the same. Waist measures ten inches smaller.

Of course, this rule, like any general rule, has certain qualifications. You must learn how to calculate your ideal measurements from head to toe. And to know what steps to take to make your figure readjustment easiest.

When you measure, stand before a mirror and try your level best to place the measuring tape around the widest part of each area of the body (only exception is your waist measure . . . measure this where the waistline is the smallest). Send for a copy of my booklet, "Do You Measure Up?", addressing your request to me, in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

You wil learn from the above booklet many important facts. For example: It doesn't necessarily follow that if weight and height are balanced, that your measurements will be ideal. You will learn how your frame structure influences the measurements you take. Figures change from generation to generation, but there is always an ideal to strive for—and today's is easy: a natural figure with curves nicely controlled.

Monday—Be charming on paper.

W. Va. Probation Director Loses His Appointment

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Robert H. Knott, for 22 years a holder of State positions, has confirmed a report that his employment as district probation and parole officer is being terminated as of June 30.

Knott said he had no comment on the action. He said he is now on a 23-day leave and had no statement as to future plans.

James C. Frame of Kingwood, who held a similar post covering Preston, Monongalia and Marion counties, replaces Knott. Frame will add Preston to the six counties in this district—Berkeley, Jefferson, Morgan, Hampshire, Hardy and Mineral.

Monongalia and Marion counties will be included in another district. Frame will have headquarters in Kingwood.

Knott said that of some 80 probation and parole cases currently under his supervision, about 60 are in Berkeley and Jefferson counties.

Knott was State fire marshall's assistant from 1933 until 1939, district probation and parole officer from 1939 until 1945, State director of probation and parole from 1945 to 1953 and returned to the post he is now relinquishing in 1953.

Knott said his notification of termination stated he was being "laid off" because of lack of funds to operate the department.

W. Va. Probation Director Loses His Appointment

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Robert H. Knott, for 22 years a holder of State positions, has confirmed a report that his employment as district probation and parole officer is being terminated as of June 30.

Knott said he had no comment on the action. He said he is now on a 23-day leave and had no statement as to future plans.

James C. Frame of Kingwood, who held a similar post covering Preston, Monongalia and Marion counties, replaces Knott. Frame will add Preston to the six counties in this district—Berkeley, Jefferson, Morgan, Hampshire, Hardy and Mineral.

Monongalia and Marion counties will be included in another district. Frame will have headquarters in Kingwood.

Knott said that of some 80 probation and parole cases currently under his supervision, about 60 are in Berkeley and Jefferson counties.

Knott was State fire marshall's assistant from 1933 until 1939, district probation and parole officer from 1939 until 1945, State director of probation and parole from 1945 to 1953 and returned to the post he is now relinquishing in 1953.

Knott said his notification of termination stated he was being "laid off" because of lack of funds to operate the department.

Lots Of Paper Work Goes Into Dial Program

It takes a heap of paper work to keep a job like the Cumberland dial conversion program running along on schedule.

Typical are the 21,000 service orders which have been typed since last July, when the Central Office here began its work on the $2,000,000 program.

Almost a year ago, workers in the business office began typing dial conversion service orders for some 13,000 customers serviced by the Cumberland telephone office.

These service orders, prepared on forms which provided eight copies, listed all of the information about each customer which was needed to proceed with the work.

These orders were prepared by last November 19, when telephone officials had to place orders for dials and other equipment needed in the switch from manual to dial operation.

The number of orders has already increased to 21,000—with more than 168,000 individual copies—since a new order had to be prepared each time a change was made affecting a customer's service.

Inter-American Road Would Be Helpful Now

The Inter-American Highway is a colossal project, designed to link up isolated sections and open new trade and tourist opportunities in underprivileged parts of the Americas. But when will it be finished?

Construction on the road has been under way for 15 years, and seven or eight years may be required to complete it. Americans rejoiced when a revolt in Guatemala led by Col. Castillo Armas overthrew the Communist-infiltrated government of President Arbenz and ended a serious Red threat to the Americas. Stability of the Castillo Armas regime would be buttressed by this super highway.

The Communists are, of course, doing what they can to undermine him. They have been whispering to the people that he plans to scuttle the "people's reforms" of previous administrations. Economic conditions have not weakened the new regime seriously, but they are a source of danger.

Coffee, the principal export crop, is no longer selling at the highest price in history. The price of corn, a major food staple, has gone up. The new government inherited a large debt and poor fiscal conditions. Unrest and unemployment are mounting.

A speed-up of construction on the Inter-American Highway would create jobs and other corollary benefits at a time when they are critically needed. Funds, of course, must be supplied by Washington. In Congress the House has voted an appropriation of $8 million for this purpose in the next fiscal year.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Ford Contract

To many, it is significant that the Ford-Reuther agreement was reached without a widespread strike. It is regarded as a sign of management-labor statesmanship. If the avoidance of strikes is the major objective of policy, as well it may be, then this settlement is a mark of statesmanship.

The terms of the agreement are unrelated to a guaranteed annual wage which never was proposed by anybody except in the form of a slogan. What was proposed and has been accepted is a method of company addition to state compensation in the event of a layoff. Should business be good and cars be made in vast profusion and no layoffs occur, this agreement does not alter present conditions.

So far as the enormous companies are concerned, the additional cost of this plan will be absorbed in the price of the car and by economies of production, involving increasing automation which may result in decreasing new hiring. So far as smaller companies are concerned, they may have to go out of business if they cannot set up the reserves. On the other hand, a large number of smaller companies have become relegated to the position of suppliers to the large companies upon whom they have become financially dependent. In effect, they are sub-contractors and must follow the leadership of the larger companies as to policy. This is strictly a cartel operation, no matter what the lawyers call it, and reduces competition which is the heart of the capitalist system.

When there are only three producing companies in the automobile industry, as well may happen now, the element of competition is lessened because competition is only real when small companies are crowding the heels of the large companies. Its object is to keep prices down.

The automobile industry has thus far not discovered the law of diminishing returns and therefore can afford to be venturesome on the assumption that the American customer can absorb its share of new production. On the other hand, it is evident now that the used-car market is doing very badly. The used-car market is an important element in the price of cars because by the exchange of one-year and two-year old cars for new cars plus an additional payment, it is possible to sell large numbers of new cars at reasonable prices. When dealers, however, cannot dispose of used cars, they dislike taking in the old cars and find a sales resistance on account of price.

It used to be that large numbers of used cars were shipped out of the United States. Such American cars are now meeting competition from British and German cars some of which are really American-owned. Vauxhall and Ford in England and Opel in Germany are principally American-owned companies making good cars at lower prices than American cars. They are often smaller and less expensive to operate. This competition will increase. The Rootes Group in England manufactures cars which are increasingly popular in the United States.

In this country, the weakness of the used-car market has produced a curious phenomenon in some areas, namely, that new cars are sold as used cars. This is a form of bootlegging to give the customer a discount without violating a sales franchise. The companies fight this trend hard wherever it appears. Nevertheless, it represents a response to sales resistance which may be accelerated if prices are raised as a result of the Ford-UAW agreement.

An American car is good for many more years than two and the public learned that during the war. The manufacturers responded to this knowledge by radical styling, thus making old cars to appear older than they really are. The public has responded positively to this change in taste and business has been good. But automobile prices are high, even for an inflationary period, and the question that arises is how much higher can they go. How much more can be put on the car to meet the cost of Reuther's victory? If it is little, the public will not mind and will say that it does not hurt and that it is less costly than prolonged unemployment. If it comes high, sales resistance is bound to rear its dreaded head. This then remains a question of price.

Vice President Nixon Warns Knowland To Stop His Needling Of Eisenhower

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — It is now well known that the feud between the two gentlemen from California, Senator Knowland and Vice President Nixon, is one of the most vitriolic in the capital. However, it is not generally known that Nixon has been making it clear with Capitol Hill colleagues that as far as Eisenhower is concerned, he is winning the feud.

At a recent off-the-record luncheon with other members of Congress, the vice president not only needled his fellow Republican from California, but posed as the spokesman for Ike, and gave advice that Knowland would have to pipe down on his criticism.

He stated that whether Ike ran again would depend not only on his desire to lead a more tranquil home life but on whether or not high Republicans kept on sniping at him.

"The President wonders when his own party leaders keep opposing his major policies in international affairs," said Nixon, obviously referring to his colleague from California, "whether he is not in an anomalous position, and whether he is not divorced from at least an important sector of his party. In any event, he feels this kind of criticism very deeply—it hurts."

A congressman wanted to know whether it also hurt the President to hear Senator McCarthy sounding off with one of his diatribes against Ike.

"Anything McCarthy says doesn't bother the President in the least—if he notices it at all," replied Nixon. "But with a top man like Knowland—that's different."

NOTE—Nixon has pretty well won Eisenhower over to his side in the Knowland controversy. Ike has even agreed to some Nixon political strategy, to build him up as possible successor.

Rayburn On Highways

You can jot it down that Congress will pass some kind of a super-highway bill during this session. In talks with GOP congressional leaders, President Eisenhower has put the highway program almost at the top of his list of "must" bills. The other day Ike received some unexpected aid from Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

At a closed-door huddle with Democratic members of the House Public Works Committee, Rayburn was plainly nettled by the committee's delay in reporting a highway bill.

"If the House doesn't enact a bill, we will be playing into the hands of the Republicans," warned the Texan. "They will be in a position to say that we Democrats used our majority in the House to prevent action on highway legislation. I know you fellows have a lot of things to do, but please make this the first order of business. Time's running out."

Rayburn didn't blueprint the line he expected the House bill to follow. In fact, he and others at the meeting voiced general approval of the over-all objectives of the 10-year, $27,000,000,000 program of super roads proposed by the Eisenhower administration.

However, the speaker strongly objected to the administration's formula for financing highway construction—namely, by the establishment of a corporation which would sell bonds to pay for the federal share of the program.

"I can't understand that kind of bookkeeping," exploded the Texan. "The American taxpayers are the ones who will eventually have to pay for this road-building, whether or not the administration tries to hide the fact by the establishment of a corporation or some other device.

"It will still be a federal obligation and it's sheer dishonesty, if you ask me, to indicate otherwise by setting up some kind of a corporation. I'm for direct appropriations to defray the federal share of the cost. Let's put it on the public debt and be done with it."

Adlai Lays Plans

Adlai Stevenson had some significant off-the-record talks with old friends in Washington the other day. He made it quite clear that he was running whether Ike ran or not, and he also laid the groundwork for his own campaign.

His campaign manager will be his old friend, Steven Mitchell of Chicago, who recently resigned as chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Chairman Paul Butler, who succeeded him, will not be asked to do any work, even though he's friendly to Adlai. Stevenson doesn't think it would be fair to other Democratic candidates to get Butler mixed up in the nomination race. Oscar Chapman, former secretary of the interior, who handled Stevenson's organizing work in the west, will also be drafted to organize the West again.

Stevenson regards Senator Kefauver of Tennessee as the only formidable opponent he will face for the nomination. Talking with friends, he expressed the kindliest sentiments toward Kefauver, and the wish that some other elements of the Democratic party—presumably Harry Truman and Speaker Sam Rayburn—felt different. It was Truman and Rayburn who largely turned thumbs down on Kefauver for the vice presidential nomination at Chicago in 1952.

Stevenson did not seem to agree with Republican pundits that Eisenhower is a sure-fire winner if he runs.

"Too many people," he told friends, "are paying too much attention to what Eisenhower is going to do. I don't think it makes any difference whether he runs or not."

He went on to say that a "paper curtain" had been drawn around Eisenhower to make it appear he was not responsible for the acts of his administration. The job of the Democratic party and the Democratic candidate, Stevenson indicated, is to tear down that paper curtain and show that every president is wholly responsible for his administration.

While he didn't mention him as a candidate, the only Republican Stevenson referred to in unendearing terms was Vice President Nixon. He said he regarded him as one of the most deceitful men in public life.

U. S. Not Awake To Implications Of GAW Controversy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The mood of a nation is not readily felt after a long absence, but it takes only an elementary knowledge of the economics of American life to perceive that the country has not waked up to the implications of the current controversy over the guaranteed annual wage.

The vast power of a labor union monopoly, which can hold up a whole industry unless its demands for money are met, was never more conspicuously demonstrated than in the negotiations between the unions and the auto companies. The companies have no choice but to accept the program laid down—with costly strikes as the alternative. Under the new agreement, only 60 to 65 per cent of the regular wages are as yet to be paid by the auto companies when their employes are idle, and there are other limitations. But anyone who can read between the lines knows that the next move will be to raise it to 100 per cent. A start has been made in America toward huge payments for work not done.

Not A New Idea

The idea that a labor union can demand payment for its members for services they do not perform is not a new one. It has been the source of many invisible increases in the costs of production in past years, and it has resulted in many an upward rise in prices.

The average observer may consider that the automobile industry is comprised of some companies which can well afford to pay idle men. In a sense, the payments will look logical because much of the unemployment is caused by a rearrangement of schedules of production when new models are introduced.

But the public is going to have to pay for the increased costs. The price of automotive transportation, which at one time was steadily reduced by means of quantity production, is now steadily rising and will continue to rise if a labor monopoly has its way.

The real damage will not be done to such successful companies as Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. It will hit the smaller companies hard, and nobody has come forward with a plan to keep them in competition and on a solvent basis if labor unions require them, as they inevitably will, to make similar payments.

Unemployment compensation has hitherto been handled as a state function, and as a form of relief paid for by all employers and by industries generally. The new development is that each company is being compelled by labor-union coercion to supplement the customary unemployment insurance with added contributions that are to come out of the pockets of the individual companies.

Perplexing Problem

The problem of what to do about the marginal businesses in America is growing more and more perplexing. It does little good to say that the anti-trust laws may be counted upon to keep the larger units from swallowing the smaller ones. If mergers are prohibited, the mortality of the smaller businesses will grow and more unemployment will result.

The competitive system in America has always been praised because no combination of competitors is allowed to fix prices or to regulate or control sources of supply. But, when the smaller companies are forced out of business by a wage-fixing pattern that is applied uniformly to an industry, the labor union monopoly helps to abolish competition just the same as if the companies themselves regulated the conditions under which their competitors could operate. To impose onerous conditions and costs on a competitor is a violation of the anti-trust laws for management, but not for labor union monopolists. This is because the political influence of the unions has been adequate to obtain from Congress a special privilege—the immunity of labor unions from prosecution under anti-trust laws no matter how much they may perform acts that are in "restraint of trade."

The automobile industry is the largest in the nation and is a kind of bellwether. Whatever the auto companies do is reflected in the attitudes of other companies which supply materials or parts. Beyond this, the pattern is before long applied to other major industries.

The end result of what is happening is likely to be an inflationary price rise and a steady devaluation of the dollar over the long range. And the possibility of state socialism coming in to pay out unemployment and other benefits in a so-called "welfare state" is growing. There seems to be a complacent and acquiescent attitude on the part of the public toward the payment of money for work not done and toward the idea of letting labor costs rise without any corresponding increase in productivity. It's a trend that gives cause for anxiety as to the ultimate effect on the economic future of America.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Solid South solved the two-party political system by splitting up into Grade A and Grade B Democrats.

Let's look at the difference in temperature on the Carolina-Texas axis. One Shivers and the other Byrnes.

Kennon of Louisiana is another governor who refuses to knuckle a tambourine in the minstrel show. It's little things like these that make $100-plate dinners so filling.

Charles Evans Hughes would have been president in 1916 if he had shaken hands with the governor of California. The rattle of those cuff-links would have been heard 'round the world.

There will be no Democratic president in 1956 without Kennon, Shivers and Byrnes in the line-up. In the last loyalty test those lads took they had all their buttons. And a couple of extras from the 1952 campaign.

Chairman Butler is discovering a house divided against itself must have two kitchens. One for southern cooking.

The score now reads Stevenson singing "I Wish I Was in Dixie."

The situation was complicated when Harry Truman spoke at a $25-plate dinner in Denver. If that was curb service we forgive him.

Luck A'la Compton Hall

By Brother Barnabas

If you were as simple-minded as was our janitor at "613" you would always carry a rabbit's-foot for luck. It would have to be the left hind foot of a rabbit that was killed in the dark of the moon on a lonely lane running alongside a country graveyard.

Only once did Henry forget his talisman on coming to work, and that was his unlucky day sure 'nuf.

Do you remember when your mother used to tie a small sack of asafetida around your neck as an amulet to ward off malaria? That isn't done any more, for the swamps that breed the germs have been drained, and people are less superstitious.

There are still people among us who trust to luck for a living rather than work, and if ever they run out of luck it is because they forgot their rabbit's-foot.

Sprinkling Of Punctilio

The other day some of this clan went to Compton Hall to see how 65 graduates got that way. There they sat in plush comfort until the somber-clad procession defiled in, and they witnessed a ceremony of beauty, dignified simplicity and decorum, accented by music and oratory, with a sprinkling of punctilio.

Having absorbed some of the glamor of the occasion, they went away feeling that they had been "through college" and the grads were lucky guys to get by so pleasantly.

Of course they did not see backstage, that it was not "pull" but "push" that brought them to their eminence, coupled with dig and delve, and in many instances sacrifices at home.

These balcony folks have yet to learn that law, not luck, is fundamental to all purposeful living. Luck is no guarantee of social security or any other kind.

Bad luck happens only to the cat who yawls at midnight beneath your window.

Don't bank on a charmed life. Be a charmer, not by the application of a veneer of cosmetics, but by an inward growth according to law, like a pearl in an oyster shell.

Facts outweigh theories. A single fact can knock a pet theory into a cocked hat. The trouble with facts is that there are so many of them they keep us in constant turmoil revising our theories.

In State Of Flux

You have a theory of domestic economy in which the children have a voice. One day the vote is 3-2 in favor of spending the pay check for jelly beans.

Educational theory is in a state of flux as new facts and conditions arise, making the traditional "three r's" and "no lickin', no larnin'" look moss-backed.

One could wish the good old custom of spanking, ending up in the woodshed, might be restored in the case of incorrigibles.

And while reading and spelling are no longer practiced as they used to be, it is well to remember that if you want to be lucky in love and poplar, you must know how tew spel and red 'n rite, and practice what you preach.

Practice makes perfect you know. There is an ancient story of a young freckle-faced boy who became bronzed and brawny tending his father's sheep. When he had "nothing to do" he practiced throwing pebbles in his slingshot. He became an expert. He never missed a target.

One day a bragging giant came flashing his sword. One stone from David's sling, and he bit the dust. If interested, read from I Samuel, 17th chapter.

The "lucky guys" have no monopoly on education. There are no elevators up Parnassus. There's plenty room for all pedestrians and they can climb as high as their stamina will take them.

Education in the popular sense, and possible to us all, may be boiled down to two words:

(a) Savoir-faire—meaning how to do, readiness in knowing how to act, and

(b) Savoir vivre—knowing how to live, good breeding, refined manners.

No Degree For Luck

If there is any college that gives a degree for luck I haven't heard of it. The Frostburg Teacher's College doesn't offer it.

This is a maverick unvouched for, described as a recipe for warts:

"Make as many little pellets of bread as you have warts to get rid of. These you place in a silk bag, and persuade a girl (who must have red hair) to sleep with the bag under her pillow for three nights. Then you put the pellets outside on a wall, and wait for a blackbird to come and begin to feed. You must allow the bird to eat only one pellet and then chase it away, and repeat the performance every day until all the pellets have been eaten.

"Each time you must repeat in a whisper:

" 'Blackbird, blackbird, fly away
Eating only one a day,
Come tomorrow, come again,
Take my warts away,
Amen!' "

I've never known this recipe to fail when tried, and I have never known it to be tried.

Hats off, Grads, says

Vitamins Prior To Surgery Help Chances Of Recovery

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

For more than 30 years vitamins have been regarded as indispensable food accessories. Drug stores sell them by the bushel and undoubtedly tons are wasted by buyers who do not need them. But despite abuses, they have a place in keeping us in maximum health.

The relationship between vitamins and surgery is worth knowing. Taking vitamins for a week or 10 days prior to entering the hospital for an operation will increase the chances of recovery. Any multiple vitamin made by a reputable firm will suffice. For a quick build-up the dosage should be at least two or three capsules a day.

There are various reasons why the individual requiring surgery may need vitamins. Many have been ill for some time and attempt to starve out the disorder or scatter its effects by means of nostrums. As a result, they allow themselves to become undernourished.

Conditions for which surgery is indicated are associated with vitamin deficiencies. It is well known that 18 out of 20 persons with peptic ulcer will show a low ratio of vitamin C. This is easy to understand because fruit juices and other foods high in C tend to aggravate this condition. Other disorders are in this category, which explains why 40 per cent of all who require the services of a surgeon have been neglecting their diet.

But the need for extra vitamins does not end with the operation. Surgeons often use these products routinely as soon as the patient is able to eat again and the plan is continued throughout convalescence.

Why is this important? It has been demonstrated repeatedly that good nutrition favors healing and speeds recovery. Abdominal incisions demand the most rapid type of repair and it is not difficult to visualize the danger that ensues should slow healing of the tissues take place.

Deficiency of vitamin C is a common culprit. Patients who have suffered for a long time from liver or gall bladder disease may require additional vitamin A as well as K. The latter is essential in promoting clotting of the blood and is particularly necessary when jaundice exists. This program will improve the general condition and add to the safety of the surgical procedure.

When we are in tiptop health we may assume that our food furnishes all the vitamins the system can utilize. If extra strain comes along, however, reinforcements can do no harm. These adjuncts cannot fail to encourage more rapid and complete rehabilitation.

No. Respiratory infections are common in barracks, schools, and boarding houses because the occupants are in close contact with each other and can spread the organisms easily. By the time this answer appears your son will be hale and hearty and rarin' to go.

Inter-American Road Would Be Helpful Now

The Inter-American Highway is a colossal project, designed to link up isolated sections and open new trade and tourist opportunities in underprivileged parts of the Americas. But when will it be finished?

Construction on the road has been under way for 15 years, and seven or eight years may be required to complete it. Americans rejoiced when a revolt in Guatemala led by Col. Castillo Armas overthrew the Communist-infiltrated government of President Arbenz and ended a serious Red threat to the Americas. Stability of the Castillo Armas regime would be buttressed by this super highway.

The Communists are, of course, doing what they can to undermine him. They have been whispering to the people that he plans to scuttle the "people's reforms" of previous administrations. Economic conditions have not weakened the new regime seriously, but they are a source of danger.

Coffee, the principal export crop, is no longer selling at the highest price in history. The price of corn, a major food staple, has gone up. The new government inherited a large debt and poor fiscal conditions. Unrest and unemployment are mounting.

A speed-up of construction on the Inter-American Highway would create jobs and other corollary benefits at a time when they are critically needed. Funds, of course, must be supplied by Washington. In Congress the House has voted an appropriation of $8 million for this purpose in the next fiscal year.

The Ford Contract

To many, it is significant that the Ford-Reuther agreement was reached without a widespread strike. It is regarded as a sign of management-labor statesmanship. If the avoidance of strikes is the major objective of policy, as well it may be, then this settlement is a mark of statesmanship.

The terms of the agreement are unrelated to a guaranteed annual wage which never was proposed by anybody except in the form of a slogan. What was proposed and has been accepted is a method of company addition to state compensation in the event of a layoff. Should business be good and cars be made in vast profusion and no layoffs occur, this agreement does not alter present conditions.

So far as the enormous companies are concerned, the additional cost of this plan will be absorbed in the price of the car and by economies of production, involving increasing automation which may result in decreasing new hiring. So far as smaller companies are concerned, they may have to go out of business if they cannot set up the reserves. On the other hand, a large number of smaller companies have become relegated to the position of suppliers to the large companies upon whom they have become financially dependent. In effect, they are sub-contractors and must follow the leadership of the larger companies as to policy. This is strictly a cartel operation, no matter what the lawyers call it, and reduces competition which is the heart of the capitalist system.

He went on to say that a "paper curtain" had been drawn around Eisenhower to make it appear he was not responsible for the acts of his administration. The job of the Democratic party and the Democratic candidate, Stevenson indicated, is to tear down that paper curtain and show that every president is wholly responsible for his administration.

While he didn't mention him as a candidate, the only Republican Stevenson referred to in unendearing terms was Vice President Nixon. He said he regarded him as one of the most deceitful men in public life.

U. S. Not Awake To Implications Of GAW Controversy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The mood of a nation is not readily felt after a long absence, but it takes only an elementary knowledge of the economics of American life to perceive that the country has not waked up to the implications of the current controversy over the guaranteed annual wage.

The vast power of a labor union monopoly, which can hold up a whole industry unless its demands for money are met, was never more conspicuously demonstrated than in the negotiations between the unions and the auto companies. The companies have no choice but to accept the program laid down—with costly strikes as the alternative. Under the new agreement, only 60 to 65 per cent of the regular wages are as yet to be paid by the auto companies when their employes are idle, and there are other limitations. But anyone who can read between the lines knows that the next move will be to raise it to 100 per cent. A start has been made in America toward huge payments for work not done.

Not A New Idea

The idea that a labor union can demand payment for its members for services they do not perform is not a new one. It has been the source of many invisible increases in the costs of production in past years, and it has resulted in many an upward rise in prices.

The average observer may consider that the automobile industry is comprised of some companies which can well afford to pay idle men. In a sense, the payments will look logical because much of the unemployment is caused by a rearrangement of schedules of production when new models are introduced.

But the public is going to have to pay for the increased costs. The price of automotive transportation, which at one time was steadily reduced by means of quantity production, is now steadily rising and will continue to rise if a labor monopoly has its way.

The real damage will not be done to such successful companies as Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. It will hit the smaller companies hard, and nobody has come forward with a plan to keep them in competition and on a solvent basis if labor unions require them, as they inevitably will, to make similar payments.

Unemployment compensation has hitherto been handled as a state function, and as a form of relief paid for by all employers and by industries generally. The new development is that each company is being compelled by labor-union coercion to supplement the customary unemployment insurance with added contributions that are to come out of the pockets of the individual companies.

Perplexing Problem

The problem of what to do about the marginal businesses in America is growing more and more perplexing. It does little good to say that the anti-trust laws may be counted upon to keep the larger units from swallowing the smaller ones. If mergers are prohibited, the mortality of the smaller businesses will grow and more unemployment will result.

The competitive system in America has always been praised because no combination of competitors is allowed to fix prices or to regulate or control sources of supply. But, when the smaller companies are forced out of business by a wage-fixing pattern that is applied uniformly to an industry, the labor union monopoly helps to abolish competition just the same as if the companies themselves regulated the conditions under which their competitors could operate. To impose onerous conditions and costs on a competitor is a violation of the anti-trust laws for management, but not for labor union monopolists. This is because the political influence of the unions has been adequate to obtain from Congress a special privilege—the immunity of labor unions from prosecution under anti-trust laws no matter how much they may perform acts that are in "restraint of trade."

The automobile industry is the largest in the nation and is a kind of bellwether. Whatever the auto companies do is reflected in the attitudes of other companies which supply materials or parts. Beyond this, the pattern is before long applied to other major industries.

The end result of what is happening is likely to be an inflationary price rise and a steady devaluation of the dollar over the long range. And the possibility of state socialism coming in to pay out unemployment and other benefits in a so-called "welfare state" is growing. There seems to be a complacent and acquiescent attitude on the part of the public toward the payment of money for work not done and toward the idea of letting labor costs rise without any corresponding increase in productivity. It's a trend that gives cause for anxiety as to the ultimate effect on the economic future of America.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Solid South solved the two-party political system by splitting up into Grade A and Grade B Democrats.

Let's look at the difference in temperature on the Carolina-Texas axis. One Shivers and the other Byrnes.

Kennon of Louisiana is another governor who refuses to knuckle a tambourine in the minstrel show. It's little things like these that make $100-plate dinners so filling.

Charles Evans Hughes would have been president in 1916 if he had shaken hands with the governor of California. The rattle of those cuff-links would have been heard 'round the world.

There will be no Democratic president in 1956 without Kennon, Shivers and Byrnes in the line-up. In the last loyalty test those lads took they had all their buttons. And a couple of extras from the 1952 campaign.

Chairman Butler is discovering a house divided against itself must have two kitchens. One for southern cooking.

The score now reads Stevenson singing "I Wish I Was in Dixie."

The situation was complicated when Harry Truman spoke at a $25-plate dinner in Denver. If that was curb service we forgive him.

Luck A'la Compton Hall

By Brother Barnabas

If you were as simple-minded as was our janitor at "613" you would always carry a rabbit's-foot for luck. It would have to be the left hind foot of a rabbit that was killed in the dark of the moon on a lonely lane running alongside a country graveyard.

Only once did Henry forget his talisman on coming to work, and that was his unlucky day sure-'nuf.

Do you remember when your mother used to tie a small sack of asafetida around your neck as an amulet to ward off malaria? That isn't done any more, for the swamps that breed the germs have been drained, and people are less superstitious.

There are still people among us who trust to luck for a living rather than work, and if ever they run out of luck it is because they forgot their rabbit's-foot.

Sprinkling Of Punctilio

The other day some of this clan went to Compton Hall to see how 65 graduates got that way. There they sat in plush comfort until the somber-clad procession defiled in, and they witnessed a ceremony of beauty, dignified simplicity and decorum, accented by music and oratory, with a sprinkling of punctilio.

Having absorbed some of the glamor of the occasion, they went away feeling that they had been "through college" and the grads were lucky guys to get by so pleasantly.

Of course they did not see backstage, that it was not "pull" but "push" that brought them to their eminence, coupled with dig and delve, and in many instances sacrifices at home.

These balcony folks have yet to learn that law, not luck, is fundamental to all purposeful living. Luck is no guarantee of social security or any other kind.

Bad luck happens only to the cat who yawls at midnight beneath your window.

Don't bank on a charmed life. Be a charmer, not by the application of a veneer of cosmetics, but by an inward growth according to law, like a pearl in an oyster shell.

Facts outweigh theories. A single fact can knock a pet theory into a cocked hat. The trouble with facts is that there are so many of them they keep us in constant turmoil revising our theories.

In State Of Flux

You have a theory of domestic economy in which the children have a voice. One day the vote is 3-2 in favor of spending the pay check for jelly beans.

Educational theory is in a state of flux as new facts and conditions arise, making the traditional "three r's" and "no lickin', no larnin'" look moss-backed.

One could wish the good old custom of spanking, ending up in the woodshed, might be restored in the case of incorrigibles.

And while reading and spelling are no longer practiced as they used to be, it is well to remember that if you want to be lucky in love and poplar, you must know how tew spel and red 'n rite, and practice what you preach.

Practice makes perfect you know. There is an ancient story of a young freckle-faced boy who became bronzed and brawny tending his father's sheep. When he had "nothing to do" he practiced throwing pebbles in his slingshot. He became an expert. He never missed a target.

One day a bragging giant came flashing his sword. One stone from David's sling, and he bit the dust. If interested, read from I Samuel, 17th chapter.

The "lucky guys" have no monopoly on education. There are no elevators up Parnassus. There's plenty room for all pedestrians and they can climb as high as their stamina will take them.

Education in the popular sense, and possible to us all, may be boiled down to two words:

(a) Savoir-faire—meaning how to do, readiness in knowing how to act, and

(b) Savoir vivre—knowing how to live, good breeding, refined manners.

No Degree For Luck

If there is any college that gives a degree for luck I haven't heard of it. The Frostburg Teacher's College doesn't offer it.

This is a maverick unvouched for, described as a recipe for warts:

"Make as many little pellets of bread as you have warts to get rid of. These you place in a silk bag, and persuade a girl (who must have red hair) to sleep with the bag under her pillow for three nights. Then you put the pellets outside on a wall, and wait for a blackbird to come and begin to feed. You must allow the bird to eat only one pellet and then chase it away, and repeat the performance every day until all the pellets have been eaten.

"Each time you must repeat in a whisper:

" 'Blackbird, blackbird, fly away
Eating only one a day,
Come tomorrow, come again,
Take my warts away,
Amen!' "

I've never known this recipe to fail when tried, and I have never known it to be tried.

Hats off, Grads, says

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

For more than 30 years vitamins have been regarded as indispensable food accessories. Drug stores sell them by the bushel and undoubtedly tons are wasted by buyers who do not need them. But despite abuses, they have a place in keeping us in maximum health.

The relationship between vitamins and surgery is worth knowing. Taking vitamins for a week or 10 days prior to entering the hospital for an operation will increase the chances of recovery. Any multiple vitamin made by a reputable firm will suffice. For a quick build-up the dosage should be at least two or three capsules a day.

There are various reasons why the individual requiring surgery may need vitamins. Many have been ill for some time and attempt to starve out the disorder or scatter its effects by means of nostrums. As a result, they allow themselves to become undernourished.

Conditions for which surgery is indicated are associated with vitamin deficiencies. It is well known that 18 out of 20 persons with peptic ulcer will show a low ratio of vitamin C. This is easy to understand because fruit juices and other foods high in C tend to aggravate this condition. Other disorders are in this category, which explains why 40 per cent of all who require the services of a surgeon have been neglecting their diet.

But the need for extra vitamins does not end with the operation. Surgeons often use these products routinely as soon as the patient is able to eat again and the plan is continued throughout convalescence.

Why is this important? It has been demonstrated repeatedly that good nutrition favors healing and speeds recovery. Abdominal incisions demand the most rapid type of repair and it is not difficult to visualize the danger that ensues should slow healing of the tissues take place.

Deficiency of vitamin C is a common culprit. Patients who have suffered for a long time from liver or gall bladder disease may require additional vitamin A as well as K. The latter is essential in promoting clotting of the blood and is particularly necessary when jaundice exists. This program will improve the general condition and add to the safety of the surgical procedure.

When we are in tiptop health we may assume that our food furnishes all the vitamins the system can utilize. If extra strain comes along, however, reinforcements can do no harm. These adjuncts cannot fail to encourage more rapid and complete rehabilitation.

No.

WORRIES ABOUT SON

Mrs. E. L. writes: My son just entered the Army and will begin basic in a few days. He has always been in good health but now has sore throat, hoarseness, and a bad head cold. In fact all the men in his unit seem to have the same thing. Is this a result of all the "shots" they received?

REPLY

No. Respiratory infections are common in barracks, schools, and boarding houses because the occupants are in close contact with each other and can spread the organisms easily. By the time this answer appears your son will be hale and hearty and rarin' to go.

FAST HEART

W. C. writes: How serious is tachycardia?

Increased pulse rate is serious only when it is a sign of failing heart or when associated with the production of some poison as in overactive thyroid. The rate normally races after exercise and during episodes of fear, anxiety, or other nervous states.

NO AFTERMATH

Mrs. L. writes: If a baby survives toxemia in the mother, will the child have kidney trouble later on?

No. All the disturbance is confined to the mother's kidneys.

Dig this defense of snoring by a Glasgow physician who probably makes an infernal racket when he's sleeping himself: "Snoring," he told a British Medical Association meeting, may be based on race memory. Afflicted males thus would make the noise atavistically at night to keep marauders from the den."

In other words, this snoring (name, Dr. A. H. Douthwaite) reminded wives of snorers that those assorted grunts, groans, whistles, etc., with which their spouses keep them awake are actually "evidences of deep love and the protective instinct."

Basilio Stops DeMarco In 12th, Wins Welterweight Title

Boston Boxer Floored Twice In 10th Round

Referee Stops Bout In 1:52 Of Twelfth; 9,170 Pay $119,794

By MURRAY ROSE

A 17-10 favorite, the 28-year-old ex-Marine from nearby Canastota touched off a wild scene by dropping the 23-year-old Bostonian twice in the 10th round to turn the tide of a fiery and bloody scrap.

After that, Basilio, getting his second shot at the title that barely eluded him 21 months ago against Kid Gavilan, calmly went after the lion-hearted champion.

Referee Stops Bout

He chopped away with both hands to the bleeding face of the wobbling but still firing champion until Referee Harry Kessler stepped in and wrapped his arms around the gallant defender.

The pro-Basilio capacity crowd of 9,170, which paid $119,794, let loose with a tremendous roar when Basilio's arm was raised in triumph.

Both fighters are solid left hookers but it was a right by Basilio which sent Demarco to the canvas for the first time. They were mixing it up in a brisk exchange when Basilio suddenly staggered the Bostonian with a right to the jaw.

Basilio shot over two more rights to the jaw and down went Tony for seven. Blood streaming from cuts over both eyes and his nose, Demarco got up and ran into another salvo. A left hook sent him on his back with his head pulling down the lower rope.

Demarco Is Game

Game as they come, Demarco wobbled to his feet again at seven.

Somehow he managed to last out the round but he was on queer street. He staggered on rubbery legs away from his corner and had to be led back. Dr. Charles Heck examined him between rounds and it seemed that the champion wouldn't be able to come out for the 11th.

Come out he did, however. And he came out swinging. He tore after Basilio with swinging blows that carried all of his power, especially in his left hook. He was hoping for a knockout. Basilio, however, worked carefully on Demarco's battered features until Kessler intervened.

Carmen Is Far Ahead

All three officials had Basilio, who weighed 145½ to Demarco's 144¾, far ahead. Kessler had it 8-2-1. Judge Frank Forbes had it 8-3 while Judge Bert Grant scored it 7-4. The AP card had Basilio leading, 7-4.

Williams Says It Feels Great To Hit Homers

Opines Detroit Pair Easy Outs In Boston

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—Ted Williams sat on a big, black trunk in the Boston Red Sox dressing room and smiled.

"Sure it feels great to hit a pair of homers," said the 36-year-old slugger. "but do you know what? Both would have been outs in Boston. Easy outs.

"The rightfielder would have run in to catch the first one, and just camped under the second. Yep, easy outs."

Ted Overly Modest

Undoubtedly, Williams was being overly modest. He makes home runs look so simple.

His first one against the Detroit Tigers today was a screaming liner which flew into the lower right field deck. His second was a high fly which fell into the upper deck in right.

Bothered by a cold, Williams said he still didn't "feel so good."

"But the closer and closer I got to Briggs Stadium, the better and better I felt," he smiled.

Somebody asked him how many homers he'd hit if he played in Detroit fulltime.

"I'd probably hit a couple at first," he said. "But as soon as I hit a few into the third deck, they'd never give me a decent pitch to hit. Low and outside, low and outside all the time."

Background Is Help

Williams conceded that the physical structure, plus the dark green background, is a big help to hitters in Briggs Stadium.

"It's especially good for lefthanders here," he said. "But, any lefthanded hitter will tell you that. Not only me."

Williams said the hardest ball he ever hit was in Briggs Stadium.

"It was either just before or just after the war," he said. "Al Benton was pitching for Detroit. I hit the ball like a bullet against the third deck. I swear I thought it was going right through the roof.

"This sure is a great place to hit."

Rookie's Homer Wins For Giants

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Rookie Gail Harris lined his second major league home run into the right field seats to lead off the eighth inning tonight and gave the New York Giants a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The big blow broke an even-Stephen ball game which both clubs seemed reluctant to win. A total of 22 runners were left stranded—11 by each team.

Veteran Jim Hearn was the winner, picking up his seventh victory against six defeats. The loser was Luis Arroyo, dropping his second straight after winning six in a row.

The Cardinals reached Hearn for nine hits, and had the help of three New York errors—all by second baseman Davey Williams — but were held in check after scoring in the first inning. Solly Hemus, in the lineup to replace the weaker hitting Alex Grammas, tallied the Card run, opening with a single and moving around on Williams' error, an infield out and a single by Stan Musial.

New York scored in the third. Hearn was hit by a pitched ball and came home on Williams' single and a sacrifice fly by Whitey Lockman.

Joey Giardello Is Sentenced To Term In Prison

Beat Service Station Attendant With Crutch

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 (AP) — Joey Giardello, high-ranking middleweight fighter, today was sentenced to a county prison term of 6 to 18 months as the aftermath of a street corner row in which he was accused of beating a service station attendant with a crutch.

Judge Edward P. Little, who presided at Giardello's recent trial, admitted the boxer to $1,500 bond pending an appeal which Giardello's attorney, Michael von Moschisker, said he would file with the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

Giardello was convicted last March 16 on five counts of assault and riot. He was accused specifically of taking part in the beating of attendant Howard Short, 29, at a South Philadelphia gasoline station on Oct. 29, 1954.

During the 24-year-old fighter's trial, it was testified he hit Short with a crutch which Giardello was using at the time because of an auto accident leg injury.

Companions Plead Guilty

Three companions pleaded guilty to two charges of riot and two of the three pleaded guilty to an additional count of assault and battery.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Little suspended sentence on two counts and directed that Giardello pay the costs of the trial. The jurist also ordered the fighter to make restitution for damage to the service station.

Earlier, Judge Little denied a defense motion for a new trial. In a plea for leniency, Attorney von Moschisker said Giardello had been arrested only once previously, for corner lounging.

"He is a family man," said the attorney. "He has a wife and two children, and a baby, who is permanently ill, whose hospital bills are being paid in full by this man. He is a prize fighter who has not been able to fight since the verdict."

Asks Prison Sentence

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash told the court "proper respect for law enforcement in the city requires a prison sentence for Giardello."

Fishing Outlook Poor For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—The weekend fishing outlook in West Virginia was generally poor today, although anglers who look hard enough might find a few steams where conditions are favorable.

The weekly stream report of the Conservation Department listed the streams of most counties as high and muddy, rising and muddy or slightly milky.

Only in a handful of counties were fishing conditions reported good. Waters were listed as low and clear or normal and clear in Doddridge, Pocahontas, Monroe and Summers counties.

The water was low and clear at Tygart Dam in Taylor County, although streams in that county otherwise were high and muddy. Some streams in Randolph County were normal and clear but water tended to be slightly high in the county's southern portion.

Yankees Edge Indians, 3-2, Increase Lead

Two Runs In Seventh Decide Close Game

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The New York Yankees tonight produced a two-run rally in the seventh inning and won a 3-2 victory over Cleveland's Indians in the opener of a four-game series. The victory put the Yankees 5½ games ahead of the Chicago White Sox, idled tonight by rain; and 6½ games ahead of the Indians.

The Yanks called in ace reliefer Jim Konstanty to put down a Cleveland rally in the ninth inning. Cleveland had scored one run in that inning and had two men on base with only one out when Konstanty entered the game. He made the next man pop out and ended the game by getting the last batter to fly out.

In the important seventh inning, Gil McDougald singled, moved to third on a passed ball and Andy Carey's single, and scored as Bob Avila was throwing out Irv Noren at first. A single by Mickey Mantle scored Carey.

Tommy Byrne was credited with the victory, his third against one defeat. Byrne struck out one and walked five before he was relieved in the seventh with the bases loaded.

The loser was Mike Garcia, who started strong but lost his steam as the contest went along. He struck out seven men, all in the first three innings, and walked a total of five. Losing his seventh game against three victories, he was taken out of the game for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

13th Marbles Finale • • • Cage's .613 Is Tops

"Pete" Wilson Victor • • • Adkins Gets In Jam

By C. V. BURNS

TWENTY-FOUR school champions will be "knuckling down for Old Winsocki" when the finals of the Cumberland Area Marbles Tournament is staged Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Gephart School Playground.

Jupe Pluvius put the damper on the tourney twice this week and Director J. William "Bill" Hunt is hopeful that Old Sol will prevail so the event can be completed.

This year's tournament is the 13th staged under the sponsorship of the Times and Allegan-ian Company since 1933.

Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, has directed the tourney since its inception. He is serving for the second year on the national board of directors. The board comprises seven members and national headquarters are in Cleveland.

Early tournaments were held at old Community Park on Wineow Street. In fact, the first event 22 years ago was a city championship affair and 19 schools were entered. In 1936 a total of 43 county schools participated.

Ray Kammauf, 13, of Penn Avenue Junior High School, was the first winner. In fact, he was the first two-times winner (1933 and 1934) until Milton Steward, of St. Patrick's duplicated the feat in 1949 and 1950.

It is believed that Freddie "Skip" Squires, 9, of Johnson Heights School, winner in 1937, was the youngest champion.

Next week's champion will vie in the national tourney at Asbury Park, N. J., scene of the big event in recent years. The early winners went to Ocean City, N. J., and Squires represented this area at Wildwood, N. J.

No tournaments were held here from 1938 through 1947. Here's a list of the past champions and their schools:

1954—Eddie Miller, Virginia Avenue
1953—Jimmy Wisenburg, Penn Avenue
1952—Joe Rice, Fort Hill
1951—Leroy Gray, John Humbird
1950—Milton Steward, St. Patrick's
1949—Milton Steward, St. Patrick's
1948—Lowell Coates, Columbia Street
1938 through 1947—No tournaments held
1937—Freddie Squires, Johnson Heights
1936—John Ratke, St. Mary's
1935—Wallace Ullery, Penn Avenue
1934—Ray Kammauf, Penn Avenue
1933—Ray Kammauf, Penn Avenue

WHEN Clyde Broadwater, Bruce High School catcher, won the batting championship of the Bi-State Conference this season with an average of .514 that was the highest mark in the league since 1950 when Ronnie Cage, of Fort Hill, hung up the all-time mark of .613.

Jimmy Mange. of Fort Hill didn't do so bad in 1948 when he smacked the old onion at a .563 clip to annex the title.

"PE.E WILSON, young middleweight protege of Howard "Red" Bush, scored his second win Thursday night when he decisioned Sam Sellers, 155-pound Negro scrapper, in an outdoor amateur fistic show at Monessen, Pa.

Wilson, who hails from the Town Creek section, had to round up the cows on his father's farm before he arrived here Friday to make the trip to Pennsylvania.

"Pete" won all three rounds which were three minutes each instead of the two-minute rounds in most amateur bouts. It was his fourth match as a simon pure and the win gave him a 2-2 record.

After the Monesson bouts Bush chatted with Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh heavyweight contender, who recalled the night he boxed here as an amateur and scored a quick knockout.

"Gosh, but that fellow Baker is a big fellow," Bush exclaimed. "With his size he should be able to scare 'em to death."

DAN PARKER, in the New York Mirror, reports that Gene Roman, former Cumberlander, settled for $1,600, including $600 medical expenses, as a result of injuries suffered b. a boy who was struck by a truck operated by an employe of Roman's wholesale grocery firm at Paterson, N. J.

ANOTHER ITEM of interest to local followers of the cauliflowered ear sport:

Charley Adkins, 23, Olympic boxing champion was jailed at Crown Point, Indiana, the other day on charges of failing to report for Army service.

Adkins, who hails from Gary, failed to report for induction May 12, as ordered by his draft board, according to the FBI.

The Negro boxer defeated a strong Russian contender for the light welterweight championship at Helsinki, Finland, and helped cop the Olympic team title for this country.

Adkins is the same fellow who knocked out Jim Folk, local lightweight star, in one minute of the second round in the National AUA tournament at Boston in April 1949. The Indiana lad then went on to win the national 135-pound title.

Folk was Cumberland's "Fighter of the Year" in 1948, winning 16 out of 21 bouts, including a string of nine victories.

JOEY MAXIM is not so optimistic in speaking about Bobo Olson, who meets Archie Moore for the light-heavy title June 22 in New York.

"Olson won't be getting hit by a middleweight like Castellani or a tapper like me when he fights Moore," says Joey.

"He'll get whacked in the ribs and around the head by a stiff puncher who'll have weight going for him. Olson won't be able to hurt Moore, but Archie will hurt him."

Freese Brothers Are Showered With Gifts

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP) — A steady downpour caused postponement of tonight's scheduled game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Milwaukee Braves but the Pirates' Freese brothers had their "night."

A group of citizens from the brothers' home town of Wheeling, W. Va. presented gifts to third baseman George Freese and second baseman Eugene Freese.

Interested bystanders were the Pirates' other set of brothers—the O'Brien twins, Johnny and Eddie. They rejoined the club today after a 21-month tour with the Army.

Brooks Hurler Hits Homer In 7-0 Game

BROOKLYN, June 10 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers squashed the upstart Chicago Cubs, 7-0, tonight behind the four-hit pitching of Carl Erskine who helped his own cause by crashing the first home run of his major league career.

The Brooks themselves managed only five hits off the combined offerings of Sad Sam Jones, Dave Hillman and John Andre. But three of them were homers and they told the story. In addition to Erskine, Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella (No. 18 of the year) cashed in.

In tossing his eighth triumph against two setbacks, Erskine never was in trouble. He yielded one hit in the first, another in the fourth, one in the sixth and one in the seventh. Only one was for extra bases, Gene Baker's double in the fourth. He walked only one.

Chick Harbert, Ed Furgol Lead Rich Golf Test

U. S. Entry Posts 282, Aussies Drop To 5th

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States entry of Chick Harbert and Ed Furgol shot into the lead at the midway point of the $150,000 International Golf Championships with a 282 today but a pair of unheralded Europeans all but stole the show.

Flory van Donck, 42-year-old veteran from Belgium, and Harry Bradshaw, seven-time champion of Ireland, fired identical 66s, each equalling the Columbia Country Club course record.

Van Donck's splendid round set him into a three-stroke lead for first place in the individual tournament which is running concurrently with the team play for the Canada Cup.

Peter Thomson, the Australian ace who led with a 67 yesterday, blew sky high, taking a 74 and slumping into fifth place behind van Donck, Harbert, Argentine's Roberto de Vincenzo and Bradshaw.

Harbert and de Vicenzo, each with one under par 69s today, tied for second at 139. Van Donck had 136, Bradshaw 140 and Thomson 141.

Hassle Develops

The elements of a potential international incident seemed present when Harbert and Thomson got into a hassle over whether Thomson was permitted to give advice to his partner, Kel Nagle.

Harbert insisted that since the tournament involved individual play, Thomson had no right to coach Nagle.

Whether it was this that ruffled fled Thomson or whether it was the wild, scrambling game which Harbert put together, the Aussie really ran into trouble.

He butchered the 18th hole before a well-packed gallery, driving into the rough and then duffing his second shot behind some trees. He wound up with a two over par 6.

Harbert couldn't hit the fairway at all, but his putting was miraculous. At one stretch of the front nine, he used only one putt on five straight greens. And on the 18th he dropped in a 30-footer to wind up one under par for the day.

Record Is Equalled

By contrast, van Donck was precision perfect as he equalled the record of 66 set in 1952 by Jack Isaacs. The par 70 Columbia Country Club course stretches for 6510 yards.

Sports Spotlights by Walter Johns

CENTRAL PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

MAYBE this is the year.

The year, that is, that Samuel Jackson Snead, that golfin' man with the hard-luck tinge, will win his first U. S. Open Championship.

At 43, Sam is still trying. He's been trying since 1937 and the Open is just about the only tournament the White Sulphur Springs ace has failed to win.

Many times a top contender right down to the wire, and four times second in the greatest of all U. S. golf events, Snead has been the jinxed player, as it were, in those U. S. Open championships.

Snead has just come off another big win, in the Palm Beach Round Robin tourney at Great Neck, L. I., where he shot sensational golf to win for the fourth time.

He's headed for the San Francisco Olympic club course, where, with 161 others, he will attempt to win the blue ribbon of U. S. golfing, a tourney he has been seeking for 18 years. The tourney gets underway June 16 and Sam again will be the sentimental favorite to bring home that long-sought trophy.

• • •

SNEAD'S HARD-LUCK touch, or perhaps it was a question of pressure, stems from the 1939 tournament when Byron Nelson won in a playoff. But the Virginian had his big chance in the final round and fizzled it when he took that celebrated 8 on the 72nd and last hole. Snead wound up with 286, with Nelson having 284. A five on that hole would have won the event for Sam.

In 1947 Snead had the heartaches again. Lew Worsham beat him by one stroke. But Sam had missed a short putt on the 18th to blow the tourney.

Came 1949 and Snead was second again. He took three to get down from just off the green on the Par 3 second-last hole. Cary Middlecoff won this one.

In 1953 Snead was second again, this time to the king, Ben Hogan. Snead's other second was in 1937 when he lost to Ralph Guldahl by two strokes.

• • •

SNEAD has been a golf pro for 21 years. He ranks with the best of all time. To make his career a complete success, however, he should win that U. S. Open.

Maybe, as we said above, this is it.

Boston Boxer Floored Twice In 10th Round

Referee Stops Bout In 1:52 Of Twelfth; 9,170 Pay $119,794

By MURRAY ROSE

A 17-10 favorite, the 28-year-old ex-Marine from nearby Canastota touched off a wild scene by dropping the 23-year-old Bostonian twice in the 10th round to turn the tide of a fiery and bloody scrap.

After that, Basilio, getting his second shot at the title that barely eluded him 21 months ago against Kid Gavilan, calmly went after the lion-hearted champion.

Referee Stops Bout

He chopped away with both hands to the bleeding face of the wobbling but still firing champion until Referee Harry Kessler stepped in and wrapped his arms around the gallant defender.

The pro-Basilio capacity crowd of 9,170, which paid $119,794, let loose with a tremendous roar when Basilio's arm was raised in triumph.

Both fighters are solid left hookers but it was a right by Basilio which sent Demarco to the canvas for the first time. They were mixing it up in a brisk exchange when Basilio suddenly staggered the Bostonian with a right to the jaw.

Basilio shot over two more rights to the jaw and down went Tony for seven. Blood streaming from cuts over both eyes and his nose, Demarco got up and ran into another salvo. A left hook sent him on his back with his head pulling down the lower rope.

Demarco Is Game

Game as they come, Demarco wobbled to his feet again at seven.

Somehow he managed to last out the round but he was on queer street. He staggered on rubbery legs away from his corner and had to be led back. Dr. Charles Heck examined him between rounds and it seemed that the champion wouldn't be able to come out for the 11th.

Come out he did, however. And he came out swinging. He tore after Basilio with swinging blows that carried all of his power, especially in his left hook. He was hoping for a knockout. Basilio, however, worked carefully on Demarco's battered features until Kessler intervened.

Carmen Is Far Ahead

All three officials had Basilio, who weighed 145½ to Demarco's 144¾, far ahead. Kessler had it 8-2-1. Judge Frank Forbes had it 8-3 while Judge Bert Grant scored it 7-4. The AP card had Basilio leading, 7-4.

Rookie's Homer Wins For Giants

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Rookie Gail Harris lined his second major league home run into the right field seats to lead off the eighth inning tonight and gave the New York Giants a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The big blow broke an even Stephen ball game which both clubs seemed reluctant to win. A total of 22 runners were left stranded—11 by each team.

Veteran Jim Hearn was the winner, picking up his seventh victory against six defeats. The loser was Luis Arroyo, dropping his second straight after winning six in a row.

The Cardinals reached Hearn for nine hits, and had the help of three New York errors—all by second baseman Davey Williams — but were held in check after scoring in the first inning. Solly Hemus, in the lineup to replace the weaker hitting Alex Grammas, tallied the Card run, opening with a single and moving around on Williams' error, an infield out and a single by Stan Musial.

New York scored in the third. Hearn was hit by a pitched ball and came home on Williams' single and a sacrifice fly by Whitey Lockman.

Williams Says It Feels Great To Hit Homers

Opines Detroit Pair Easy Outs In Boston

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—Ted Williams sat on a big, black trunk in the Boston Red Sox dressing room and smiled.

"Sure it feels great to hit a pair of homers," said the 36-year-old slugger. "but do you know what? Both would have been outs in Boston. Easy outs.

"The rightfielder would have run in to catch the first one, and just camped under the second. Yep, easy outs."

Ted Overly Modest

Undoubtedly, Williams was being overly modest. He makes home runs look so simple.

His first one against the Detroit Tigers today was a screaming liner which flew into the lower right field deck. His second was a high fly which fell into the upper deck in right.

Bothered by a cold, Williams said he still didn't "feel so good."

"But the closer and closer I got to Briggs Stadium, the better and better I felt," he smiled.

Somebody asked him how many homers he'd hit if he played in Detroit fulltime.

"I'd probably hit a couple at first," he said. "But as soon as I hit a few into the third deck, they'd never give me a decent pitch to hit. Low and outside, low and outside all the time."

Background Is Help

"It's especially good for left-handers here," he said. "But, any lefthanded hitter will tell you that. Not only me."

Williams said the hardest ball he ever hit was in Briggs Stadium.

"It was either just before or just after the war," he said. "Al Benton was pitching for Detroit. I hit the ball like a bullet against the third deck. I swear I thought it was going right through the roof.

"This sure is a great place to hit."

Joey Giardello Is Sentenced To Term In Prison

Beat Service Station Attendant With Crutch

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 (AP) — Joey Giardello, high-ranking middleweight fighter, today was sentenced to a county prison term of 6 to 18 months as the aftermath of a street corner row in which he was accused of beating a service station attendant with a crutch.

Judge Edward P. Little, who presided at Giardello's recent trial, admitted the boxer to $1,500 bond pending an appeal which Giardello's attorney, Michael von Moschisker, said he would file with the Pennsylvania Superior Court.

Giardello was convicted last March 16 on five counts of assault and riot. He was accused specifically of taking part in the beating of attendant Howard Short, 29, at a South Philadelphia gasoline station on Oct. 29, 1954.

During the 24-year-old fighter's trial, it was testified he hit Short with a crutch which Giardello was using at the time because of an auto accident leg injury.

Companions Plead Guilty

Three companions pleaded guilty to two charges of riot and two of the three pleaded guilty to an additional count of assault and battery.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Little suspended sentence on two counts and directed that Giardello pay the costs of the trial. The jurist also ordered the fighter to make restitution for damage to the service station.

Earlier, Judge Little denied a defense motion for a new trial. In a plea for leniency, Attorney von Moschisker said Giardello had been arrested only once previously, for corner lounging.

"He is a family man," said the attorney. "He has a wife and two children, and a baby, who is permanently ill, whose hospital bills are being paid in full by this man. He is a prize fighter who has not been able to fight since the verdict."

Asks Prison Sentence

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash told the court "proper respect for law enforcement in the city requires a prison sentence for Giardello."

Fishing Outlook Poor For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—The weekend fishing outlook in West Virginia was generally poor today, although anglers who look hard enough might find a few steams where conditions are favorable.

The weekly stream report of the Conservation Department listed the streams of most counties as high and muddy, rising and muddy or slightly milky.

Only in a handful of counties were fishing conditions reported good. Waters were listed as low and clear or normal and clear in Doddridge, Pocahontas, Monroe and Summers counties.

The water was low and clear at Tygart Dam in Taylor County, although streams in that county otherwise were high and muddy. Some streams in Randolph County were normal and clear but water tended to be slightly high in the county's southern portion.

Yankees Edge Indians, 3-2, Increase Lead

Two Runs In Seventh Decide Close Game

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The New York Yankees tonight produced a two-run rally in the seventh inning and won a 3-2 victory over Cleveland's Indians in the opener of a four-game series. The victory put the Yankees 5½ games ahead of the Chicago White Sox, idled tonight by rain; and 6½ games ahead of the Indians.

The Yanks called in ace reliefer Jim Konstanty to put down a Cleveland rally in the ninth inning. Cleveland had scored one run in that inning and had two men on base with only one out when Konstanty entered the game. He made the next man pop out and ended the game by getting the last batter to fly out.

In the important seventh inning, Gil McDougald singled, moved to third on a passed ball and Andy Carey's single, and scored as Bob Avila was throwing out Irv Noren at first. A single by Mickey Mantle scored Carey.

Tommy Byrne was credited with the victory, his third against one defeat. Byrne struck out one and walked five before he was relieved in the seventh with the bases loaded.

The loser was Mike Garcia, who started strong but lost his steam as the contest went along. He struck out seven men, all in the first three innings, and walked a total of five. Losing his seventh game against three victories, he was taken out of the game for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

13th Marbles Finale • • • Cage's .613 Is Tops • • • "Pete" Wilson Victor • • • Adkins Gets In Jam

By C. V. BURNS

TWENTY-FOUR school champions will be "knuckling down for Old Winsocki" when the finals of the Cumberland Area Marbles Tournament is staged Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Gephart School Playground.

Jupe Pluvius put the damper on the tourney twice this week and Director J. William "Bill" Hunt is hopeful that Old Sol will prevail so the event can be completed.

This year's tournament is the 13th staged under the sponsorship of the Times and Allegan-ian Company since 1933.

Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times, has directed the tourney since its inception. He is serving for the second year on the national board of directors. The board comprises seven members and national headquarters are in Cleveland.

Early tournaments were held at old Community Park on Wineow Street. In fact, the first event 22 years ago was a city championship affair and 19 schools were entered. In 1936 a total of 43 county schools participated.

Ray Kammauf, 13, of Penn Avenue Junior High School, was the first winner. In fact, he was the first two-times winner (1933 and 1934) until Milton Steward, of St. Patrick's duplicated the feat in 1949 and 1950.

It is believed that Freddie "Skip" Squires, 9, of Johnson Heights School, winner in 1937, was the youngest champion.

Next week's champion will vie in the national tourney at Asbury Park, N. J., scene of the big event in recent years. The early winners went to Ocean City, N. J., and Squires represented this area at Wildwood, N. J.

1954—Eddie Miller, Virginia Avenue
1953—Jimmy Wisenburg, Penn Avenue
1952—Joe Rice, Fort Hill
1951—Leroy Gray, John Humbird
1950—Milton Steward, St. Patrick's
1949—Milton Steward, St. Patrick's
1948—Lowell Coates, Columbia Street
1938 through 1947—No tournaments held
1937—Freddie Squires, Johnson Heights
1936—John Ratke, St. Mary's
1935—Wallace Ullery, Penn Avenue
1934—Ray Kammauf, Penn Avenue
1933—Ray Kammauf, Penn Avenue

WHEN Clyde Broadwater, Bruce High School catcher, won the batting championship of the Bi-State Conference this season with an average of .514 that was the highest mark in the league since 1950 when Ronnie Cage, of Fort Hill, hung up the all-time mark of .613.

Jimmy Mange. of Fort Hill didn't do so bad in 1948 when he smacked the old onion at a .563 clip to annex the title.

"PE.E WILSON, young middleweight protege of Howard "Red" Bush, scored his second win Thursday night when he decisioned Sam Sellers, 155-pound Negro scrapper, in an outdoor amateur fistic show at Monessen, Pa.

Wilson, who hails from the Town Creek section, had to round up the cows on his father's farm before he arrived here Friday to make the trip to Pennsylvania.

"Pete" won all three rounds which were three minutes each instead of the two-minute rounds in most amateur bouts. It was his fourth match as a simon pure and the win gave him a 2-2 record.

After the Monesson bouts Bush chatted with Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh heavyweight contender, who recalled the night he boxed here as an amateur and scored a quick knockout.

"Gosh, but that fellow Baker is a big fellow," Bush exclaimed. "With his size he should be able to scare 'em to death."

DAN PARKER, in the New York Mirror, reports that Gene Roman, former Cumberlander, settled for $1,600, including $600 medical expenses, as a result of injuries suffered b. a boy who was struck by a truck operated by an employe of Roman's wholesale grocery firm at Paterson, N. J.

ANOTHER ITEM of interest to local followers of the cauliflowered ear sport:

Charley Adkins, 23, Olympic boxing champion was jailed at Crown Point, Indiana, the other day on charges of failing to report for Army service.

Adkins, who hails from Gary, failed to report for induction May 12, as ordered by his draft board, according to the FBI.

The Negro boxer defeated a strong Russian contender for the light welterweight championship at Helsinki, Finland, and helped cop the Olympic team title for this country.

Adkins is the same fellow who knocked out Jim Folk, local lightweight star, in one minute of the second round in the National AUA tournament at Boston in April 1949. The Indiana lad then went on to win the national 135-pound title.

JOEY MAXIM is not so optimistic in speaking about Bobo Olson, who meets Archie Moore for the light-heavy title June 22 in New York.

"Olson won't be getting hit by a middleweight like Castellani or a tapper like me when he fights Moore," says Joey.

"He'll get whacked in the ribs and around the head by a stiff puncher who'll have weight going for him. Olson won't be able to hurt Moore, but Archie will hurt him."

Freese Brothers Are Showered With Gifts

PITTSBURGH, June 10 (AP) — A steady downpour caused postponement of tonight's scheduled game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Milwaukee Braves but the Pirates' Freese brothers had their "night."

Chick Harbert, Ed Furgol Lead Rich Golf Test

U. S. Entry Posts 282, Aussies Drop To 5th

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The United States entry of Chick Harbert and Ed Furgol shot into the lead at the midway point of the $150,000 International Golf Championships with a 282 today but a pair of unheralded Europeans all but stole the show.

Flory van Donck, 42-year-old veteran from Belgium, and Harry Bradshaw, seven-time champion of Ireland, fired identical 66s, each equalling the Columbia Country Club course record.

Van Donck's splendid round set him into a three-stroke lead for first place in the individual tournament which is running concurrently with the team play for the Canada Cup.

Hassle Develops

The elements of a potential international incident seemed present when Harbert and Thomson got into a hassle over whether Thomson was permitted to give advice to his partner, Kel Nagle.

He butchered the 18th hole before a well-packed gallery, driving into the rough and then duffing his second shot behind some trees. He wound up with a two over par 6.

Harbert couldn't hit the fairway at all, but his putting was miraculous. At one stretch of the front nine, he used only one putt on five straight greens. And on the 18th he dropped in a 30-footer to wind up one under par for the day.

Record Is Equalled

By contrast, van Donck was precision perfect as he equalled the record of 66 set in 1952 by Jack Isaacs. The par 70 Columbia Country Club course stretches for 6510 yards.

Carl Erskine Blanks Cubs

Brooks Hurler Hits Homer In 7-0 Game

BROOKLYN, June 10 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers squashed the upstart Chicago Cubs, 7-0, tonight behind the four-hit pitching of Carl Erskine who helped his own cause by crashing the first home run of his major league career.

The Brooks themselves managed only five hits off the combined offerings of Sad Sam Jones, Dave Hillman and John Andre. But three of them were homers and they told the story. In addition to Erskine, Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella (No. 18 of the year) cashed in.

In tossing his eighth triumph against two setbacks, Erskine never was in trouble. He yielded one hit in the first, another in the fourth, one in the sixth and one in the seventh. Only one was for extra bases, Gene Baker's double in the fourth. He walked only one.

SPORTS SPLINTERINGS

by Walter Johns

CENTRAL PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

MAYBE this is the year.

The year, that is, that Samuel Jackson Snead, that golfin' man with the hard-luck tinge, will win his first U. S. Open Championship.

At 43, Sam is still trying. He's been trying since 1937 and the Open is just about the only tournament the White Sulphur Springs ace has failed to win.

Many times a top contender right down to the wire, and four times second in the greatest of all U. S. golf events, Snead has been the jinxed player, as it were, in those U. S. Open championships.

Snead has just come off another big win, in the Palm Beach Round Robin tourney at Great Neck, L. I., where he shot sensational golf to win for the fourth time.

He's headed for the San Francisco Olympic club course, where, with 161 others, he will attempt to win the blue ribbon of U. S. golfing, a tourney he has been seeking for 18 years. The tourney gets underway June 16 and Sam again will be the sentimental favorite to bring home that long-sought trophy.

• • •

SNEAD'S HARD-LUCK touch, or perhaps it was a question of pressure, stems from the 1939 tournament when Byron Nelson won in a playoff. But the Virginian had his big chance in the final round and fizzled it when he took that celebrated 8 on the 72nd and last hole. Snead wound up with 286, with Nelson having 284. A five on that hole would have won the event for Sam.

In 1947 Snead had the heartaches again. Lew Worsham beat him by one stroke. But Sam had missed a short putt on the 18th to blow the tourney.

Came 1949 and Snead was second again. He took three to get down from just off the green on the Par 3 second-last hole. Cary Middlecoff won this one.

In 1953 Snead was second again, this time to the king, Ben Hogan. Snead's other second was in 1937 when he lost to Ralph Guldahl by two strokes.

• • •

SNEAD has been a golf pro for 21 years. He ranks with the best of all time. To make his career a complete success, however, he should win that U. S. Open.

Scrub, Double Winner In 1954, • Back At Fairgo

Thomas Topped Last Year's Trainers; 350 Horses Now Stabled

Howard L. Townsley, of Baltimore, who saddled four winners at Fairgo last year, including Nimble Lady, winner of the Clifton W. White Memorial, has arrived at Fairgo with a stable of six thoroughbreds for the 31st racing meet of the Cumberland Fair Association which opens Wednesday, June 15 at 2 p.m., EDT, it was announced yesterday by A. Edwin Moore.

The Townsley string includes Scrub, a 7-year-old bay gelding owned by A. W. Messersmith, Baltimore, which scored two wins at the local half miler in 1954; Watch Casey, Lovely Moon, Turbine and Robinoo.

Nimble Lady has graduated to the milers and will not be seen here this year. The Lady, incidentally, won three races on Maryland major tracks this spring, paying off at long odds on each occasion.

Thomas Sending Dozen

Harry J. Barton, general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, last night received word from Delaware Park that William D. Thomas is vanning 12 runners here for the 10-day session.

Thomas was the leading winning trainer here last year and had a 5-3-1 record. He saddled Vojean, winner of two races, and Gun Maker, Lover's Knot and Zany which scored one win each. Thomas was the trainer of Songai, which raced here several years ago and later performed well on the major tracks.

Everhart Has Six

G. C. Everhart, Leesburg, Va., who has raced at Fairgo for many years, has six thoroughbreds stabled at the local track. They are Silver Glow, a 6-year-old gray mare; Jr. Jim, Scotch Noble, Whiz Bang, Second Sight and Nancy's Moose.

Other arrivals yesterday included:

R. KEITH, Hamilton, Ohio (3) — Valley Bold, Tin Soldier and Miss Bowyer.

JOHN D. FLAUGHER, Jr., Smithsburg, Md. (3) — Notorious Lady, Roving Brown, Twilight Mist.

W. I. PATTERSON, Bowie, Md. (5) — Ballawood, Seven Crown, Charing Ray, Fritz Ray and Grand Win.

F. W. BENNETT, Culpeper, Va. (6) — The Detainer, Hank Man, Hylo Son, Maid of Hylo, Henry H S and Mr. Daeling.

350 Horses Here

Moore announced that approximately 350 thoroughbreds are now stabled at Fairgo. He indicated that another hundred will be on the grounds by the time the opening race is run on Wednesday.

Williams Hits Two Homers As Bosox Beat Detroit, 5-2

Willard Nixon Wins Over Maas; Al Kaline Ups Average To .383

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—Ted Williams returned today to his favorite ball park, Briggs Stadium, and promptly hit a pair of 340 foot home runs in his first two trips to the plate in leading the Boston Red Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The 36-year-old slugger, who missed Boston's last two games because of a cold, got better in a hurry when he lined a home run into the lower right field stands with nobody on in the first inning.

Rookie Duke Maas was the victim both times.

They were the third and fourth homers for Williams who has played in only 10 games this season after coming out of a temporary retirement.

The Tigers' ball park long has been a favorite with Williams, dating back to his classic ninth inning home run which won the 1951 All Star game to his spectacular 8-for-9 doubleheader spree last season after being out of action with a broken collarbone.

Willard Nixon, trying for the seventh time to chalk up his fifth victory, finally got it by scattering six hits. He now has a 5-4 record.

Erb To Ride Swaps Today

Determine Among Five In Rich Coast Event

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 10 (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Swaps renews his bid for national 3-year-old honors tomorrow when he races against five older horses including last year's Kentucky Derby champion, Determine, in the $100,000 added Californian at Hollywood Park.

The California-bred colt was a questionable entry yesterday after his regular jockey, Willie Shoemaker, was suspended for five days for careless riding Wednesday.

Owner Rex C. Ellsworth finally decided to keep Swaps in the picture and engaged Dave Erb, who has been riding at Chicago, to fly here and handle his prized colt in the mile and one-sixteenth feature.

Entered against Swaps and Andrew Crevolin's Determine were the King Ranch's powerful Rejected, Langollen Farm's Mister Gus, Neil McCarthy's Irish horse, Novarullah, and a longshot, Mrs. T. M. Kerr's Travertine.

The spectacle of a race involving the winners of successive Kentucky and Santa Anita derbies is unprecedented in racing annals, and the Californian also gives Swaps a chance to enhance the reputation he earned in beating the East's crack Nashua in the Kentucky classic.

Trabert, Flam Win

BECKENHAM, England, June 10 (AP)—Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., gained the final round of the Kent Open Grass Court Tennis Championship today.

Trabert smashed Canada's Don Fontana 6-2, 6-1. Flam won over Abe Segal of South Africa 6-8, 14-12, 6-2.

Ten 3-Year-Olds May Race Against Nashua At Belmont

Scratches Expected For Big Stake Event

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP) — Ten 3-year-olds were named to oppose Nashua tomorrow in what shapes up as one of the dizziest Belmont Stakes since it was inaugurated in 1867 at old Jerome Park in the Bronx.

That is, dizzy for everybody excepting the Belair Stud's Nashua, who figures to go off one of the shortest priced favorites in the history of the mile and one half classic.

Some Scratches Expected

Surprises galore popped out this morning when the entry box showed such a bulge. The management had been expecting only three or four colts might give it the old college try against William Woodward, Jr's big sophomore ace. One or two horses still are expected to be withdrawn, however, before they have to put up the $1,000 starting fee tomorrow.

Then came announcement that Jabneh, dark horse of the race, had suddenly been sold and would start in the silks of Eugenia Bankhead, sister of actress Tallulah Bankhead.

Townsley Stable Arrives, Thomas Sending 12 From Delaware

Scrub, Double Winner In 1954, • Back At Fairgo

Thomas Topped Last Year's Trainers; 350 Horses Now Stabled

Howard L. Townsley, of Baltimore, who saddled four winners at Fairgo last year, including Nimble Lady, winner of the Clifton W. White Memorial, has arrived at Fairgo with a stable of six thoroughbreds for the 31st racing meet of the Cumberland Fair Association which opens Wednesday, June 15 at 2 p.m., EDT, it was announced yesterday by A. Edwin Moore.

The Townsley string includes Scrub, a 7-year-old bay gelding owned by A. W. Messersmith, Baltimore, which scored two wins at the local half miler in 1954; Watch Casey, Lovely Moon, Turbine and Robinoo.

Nimble Lady has graduated to the milers and will not be seen here this year. The Lady, incidentally, won three races on Maryland major tracks this spring, paying off at long odds on each occasion.

Thomas Sending Dozen

Harry J. Barton, general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, last night received word from Delaware Park that William D. Thomas is vanning 12 runners here for the 10-day session.

Thomas was the leading winning trainer here last year and had a 5-3-1 record. He saddled Vojean, winner of two races, and Gun Maker, Lover's Knot and Zany which scored one win each. Thomas was the trainer of Songai, which raced here several years ago and later performed well on the major tracks.

Everhart Has Six

G. C. Everhart, Leesburg, Va., who has raced at Fairgo for many years, has six thoroughbreds stabled at the local track. They are Silver Glow, a 6-year-old gray mare; Jr. Jim, Scotch Noble, Whiz Bang, Second Sight and Nancy's Moose.

Other arrivals yesterday included:

R. KEITH, Hamilton, Ohio (3) — Valley Bold, Tin Soldier and Miss Bowyer.

JOHN D. FLAUGHER, Jr., Smithsburg, Md. (3) — Notorious Lady, Roving Brown, Twilight Mist.

Willard Nixon Wins Over Maas; Al Kaline Ups Average To .383

DETROIT, June 10 (AP)—Ted Williams returned today to his favorite ball park, Briggs Stadium, and promptly hit a pair of 340 foot home runs in his first two trips to the plate in leading the Boston Red Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The 36-year-old slugger, who missed Boston's last two games because of a cold, got better in a hurry when he lined a home run into the lower right field stands with nobody on in the first inning.

The ball smashed against the seats and bounced back onto the playing field, rolling half way back to the infield.

Rookie Duke Maas was the victim both times.

They were the third and fourth homers for Williams who has played in only 10 games this season after coming out of a temporary retirement.

The Tigers' ball park long has been a favorite with Williams, dating back to his classic ninth inning home run which won the 1951 All Star game to his spectacular 8-for-9 doubleheader spree last season after being out of action with a broken collarbone.

His slugging today put the Red Sox into a 3-0 lead and the Tigers never caught up. It was Boston's fifth straight triumph.

Willard Nixon, trying for the seventh time to chalk up his fifth victory, finally got it by scattering six hits. He now has a 5-4 record.

Ten 3-Year-Olds May Race Against Nashua At Belmont

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP) — Ten 3-year-olds were named to oppose Nashua tomorrow in what shapes up as one of the dizziest Belmont Stakes since it was inaugurated in 1867 at old Jerome Park in the Bronx.

That is, dizzy for everybody excepting the Belair Stud's Nashua, who figures to go off one of the shortest priced favorites in the history of the mile and one half classic.

Some Scratches Expected

Surprises galore popped out this morning when the entry box showed such a bulge. The management had been expecting only three or four colts might give it the old college try against William Woodward, Jr's big sophomore ace. One or two horses still are expected to be withdrawn, however, before they have to put up the $1,000 starting fee tomorrow.

Then came announcement that Jabneh, dark horse of the race, had suddenly been sold and would start in the silks of Eugenia Bankhead, sister of actress Tallulah Bankhead.

Portersville 2nd Choice

The Clearwater Stable's Portersville is expected to be established second choice in the betting at around 10-1, with Jabneh at 12-1. Nashua, who cracked the Pimlico record in defeating Saratoga in the Preakness May 28, probably will be 1-10, or even shorter.

Others in the race:

Flying Fury and Rajput, from the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry F. Guggenheim; Blazing Count, from John McChain's Barclay Stable; C. V. Whitney's Little Dell; Retamero, from Robert J. Kleberg's King Ranch; Howard (Hash) Weinstein's Mr. Al L., and A. B. Gay's Courtship. The Clearwater Stable is owned by Red Leatherbury and Ed Roberts.

The weather man promises clear skies for the race, which will be televised and broadcast nationally (CBS) from 3:30-4 p.m., EST.

J. M. Speider's Uncle Gus ran sixth in an eight-horse field at Belmont today and was withdrawn from the Belmont Stakes after being nominated in the morning.

If 10 horses start, the pot will gross $121,800 with the winner receiving $85,700. Lloyd Gentry, Cain Hoy trainer, said Rajput is a doubtful starter.

Seeks Sixth Win

Zihlman To Battle Eckhart, Grantsville Hosts Wellersburg

Zihlman hosts Eckhart and Wellersburg plays at Grantsville in today's feature games in the Pen-Mar Baseball League.

Wellersburg and Zihlman are deadlocked for first place in the 8-club circuit with 8-2 records.

Tomorrow, Wellersburg visits Flintstone and Zihlman invades Hyndman.

Wellersburg at Grantsville—Joe Geatz and ????
Eckhart at Zihlman—Grimes and Reynolds.
Flintstone at Barrelville—Snider and Schoenadel.
Mt. Savage at Hyndman—Andrews and W. Lewis.

Wellersburg at Flintstone—R. Minnicks and Andrews.
Zihlman at Hyndman—Reynolds and Wagner.
Mt. Savage at Barrelville—C. Warnick and McKenzie.
Eckhart at Grantsville—Michaels and Snider.

Erb To Ride Swaps Today

Determine Among Five In Rich Coast Event

INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 10 (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Swaps renews his bid for national 3-year-old honors tomorrow when he races against five older horses including last year's Kentucky Derby champion, Determine, in the $100,000 added Californian at Hollywood Park.

The California-bred colt was a questionable entry yesterday after his regular jockey, Willie Shoemaker, was suspended for five days for careless riding Wednesday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (INS)—I've seldom seen William Wyler more excited than he is over one of the most daring projects ever to be made in Hollywood, "The First Love," the story of the very first time a man ever fell in love with a woman!

"This will not be a version of the biblical Adam and Eve any more than it will be based on Charles Darwin's theory," Wyler told me. "Our picture will be based on the breathtakingly original conception of Marcel Pagnol, world-renowned French writer.

"He wrote 'First Love' in 1946 and had it privately printed. Pagnol has shown the story to only a few close friends and never intends for the story to be put in general circulation.

"In fact," said Willie, who will produce and direct, "the closely guarded script will not be revealed prior to Pagnol's arrival in this country."

Beautiful Italian Milly Vitale is the newest addition to "War and Peace" in Rome to play the role of Mel Ferrer's wife. A switch, you'll admit, from Bob Hope's wife in "The Seven Little Foys."

With Milly set for the fourth top part, the Ponti-Di Laurentiis picture now has a July 4 starting date with King Vidor directing.

Meanwhile, Audrey Hepburn and bridegroom Ferrer, are taking a short vacation as the guests of bullfighter Louis Dominguin in Madrid and Henry Fonda and wife are marking time resting in a villa near Florence.

John Ireland isn't so occupied on his Phoenix, Arizona, tennis club project (which he hopes will be another Racquet Club and himself another Charlie Farrell) that he isn't keeping busy in Hollywood.

Finished with "Queen Bee," the Joan Crawford-Jeff Chandler picture at Columbia, Johnny moves over to TV to star in "There's No Forever" for the Damon Runyon Theatre of TV.

For director he gets Donald O'Connor's sidekick, Sidney Miller, who's done about everything else in show business, now making his debut as the man-behind-the-scenes.

HOLLYWOOD in shorts:

When Anna Magnani was here she struck up a great friendship with John Agar's mother and bought most of her clothes at Lillian's shop. She's just ordered six cotton dresses, all black, with different trims.

The Julie Harris baby is expected July 4.

David Rose is getting in a flying trip to Europe before the start of the Pasadena "pops" concerts this summer.

Television Set Survey Is Under Way In City

Figures on the number of television sets in Cumberland households will be provided through supplementary questions to be asked in a current survey conducted by the Census Bureau.

The information is being collected locally by Mrs. Olive E. Claar, 885 Ridgedale Avenue.

Department of Commerce officials said the television questions will be in addition to usual inquiries on employment and unemployment.

It was followed by Pennsylvania Railroad up 1 at 29⅜, Hupp Corp. up ⅝ at 8, Northern Pacific up 3⅝ at 79⅞, and Kaiser Aluminum up 1 at 37. The only loser in the list of 15 most active stocks was May Department Stores off ¼ at 37. It was the 13th most active.

Marines Urge Display Of Flag

With Flag Day, Tuesday, just three days away, residents of the Cumberland area are reminded of the Marine Corps Reserve's program for 100 per cent observance of the anniversary.

Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of Cumberland's Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, said "We hope there will be flags flying in front of every home and place of business in this section.

"Through the years, many patriotic men and women have made great sacrifices for our nation's freedom and we feel that in honoring our flag, we honor them too."

Major Algieri pointed out that more than 200 Marine Corps Reserve units are conducting similar "Fly Your Flag On Flag Day" campaigns.

Locally, the inspector-instructor's staff for the Sixth Company, will sponsor its third annual ceremony on the lawn of Emmanuel Episcopal Church at the head of Baltimore Street at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

The flag will be raised by a Marine color guard with Harry Barley bugling "To The Colors."

County Board Meet Routine

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to J. James Eirich, 10 Pennsylvania Avenue, to replace a wooden fence on Prospect Square outside the county jail at a cost of $289.13.

A petition signed by 16 residents of Oak Street in Bowling Green was received in which they requested the street be improved. Raymond Shipley appeared before the board to ask that something be done about a broken sewer pipe on I Avenue at the intersection of McMullen Highway in Bowling Green.

Paul Shuck and Elmer Davis appeared before the board to ask that drainage water which collects in front of Shuck's residence on Braddock Street in LaVale be drawn off to a sewer on the other side of the street. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor.

The board received an invitation to attend a round table conference next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

The conference has been called by Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, to discuss youth activities. H. H. Lowery, district chairman, signed the letter of invitation. He said adult leadership is needed in a youth program for the county.

Market Scores Fourth New Record High Of The Week

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Another new record high—the fourth this week — was scored today by a strong stock market.

Gains amounted to 1 to 3 points frequently, and some prices pushed their advantage on out to around 5 points. Losses were almost all fractional.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.20 at $169.20, the fourth time this week that the average has reached a new record.

Volume amounted to 2,470,000 shares. That compares with 2,960,000 shares traded yesterday.

Sperry Rand Corp. "when issued" was the day's most active issue up ½ at 27⅜ on volume of 47,100 shares.

It was followed by Pennsylvania Railroad up 1 at 29⅜, Hupp Corp. up ⅝ at 8, Northern Pacific up 3⅝ at 79⅞, and Kaiser Aluminum up 1 at 37. The only loser in the list of 15 most active stocks was May Department Stores off ¼ at 37. It was the 13th most active.

Among stocks gaining ground were Bethlehem Steel up 1¾, Chrysler 1⅛, Sears Roebuck 1, North American Aviation 1½, RCA ⅛, American Telephone 1, Union Carbide 1¾, DuPont 2⅜, American Tobacco ½, Babcock & Wilcox 5, General Dynamics 2⅝, W. R. Grace 2½, U. S. Hoffman 2¼, ACF Industries 2½, New York Central 1¾, Baltimore & Ohio 1⅝, Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅜, Amerada Petroleum 3⅛, and Alleghany Corp. ⅛.

Among losers were Goodyear off ¾, Distillers Corp. ¼, Anaconda ½, Aluminium Ltd 1⅛, Allied Chemical ½, General Electric ⅛, and Admiral Corp. ⅛.

Marines Urge Display Of Flag

With Flag Day, Tuesday, just three days away, residents of the Cumberland area are reminded of the Marine Corps Reserve's program for 100 per cent observance of the anniversary.

Major Patsy Algieri, commanding officer of Cumberland's Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, said "We hope there will be flags flying in front of every home and place of business in this section.

"Through the years, many patriotic men and women have made great sacrifices for our nation's freedom and we feel that in honoring our flag, we honor them too."

Major Algieri pointed out that more than 200 Marine Corps Reserve units are conducting similar "Fly Your Flag On Flag Day" campaigns.

Locally, the inspector-instructor's staff for the Sixth Company, will sponsor its third annual ceremony on the lawn of Emmanuel Episcopal Church at the head of Baltimore Street at 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Committee Asks $1,400,000 For Flood Project

Accepts Estimate Of Army Engineers

The House Appropriations Committee yesterday recommended that Congress appropriate $1,400,000 to continue work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project during the coming fiscal year.

This is the exact appropriation requested by the Corps of Engineers when the Corps explained details of the work planned for the period beginning July 1.

Work has been under way on the project since 1949, and the job is between 35 and 40 per cent completed.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde told a House subcommittee recently that Army Engineers are ready to build levees, excavate channels and to construct a 600-feet flood wall.

Contract Is Awarded

The Corps of Engineers recently awarded a contract to the E. J. Albrecht Company of Chicago, for channel improvement, levees and a flood wall on the Potomac River.

The contract covers the raising of Kelly Boulevard and the construction of an earth levee to the West Side flood wall, and a levee from the downstream end of the wall to the confluence of Wills Creek and the river.

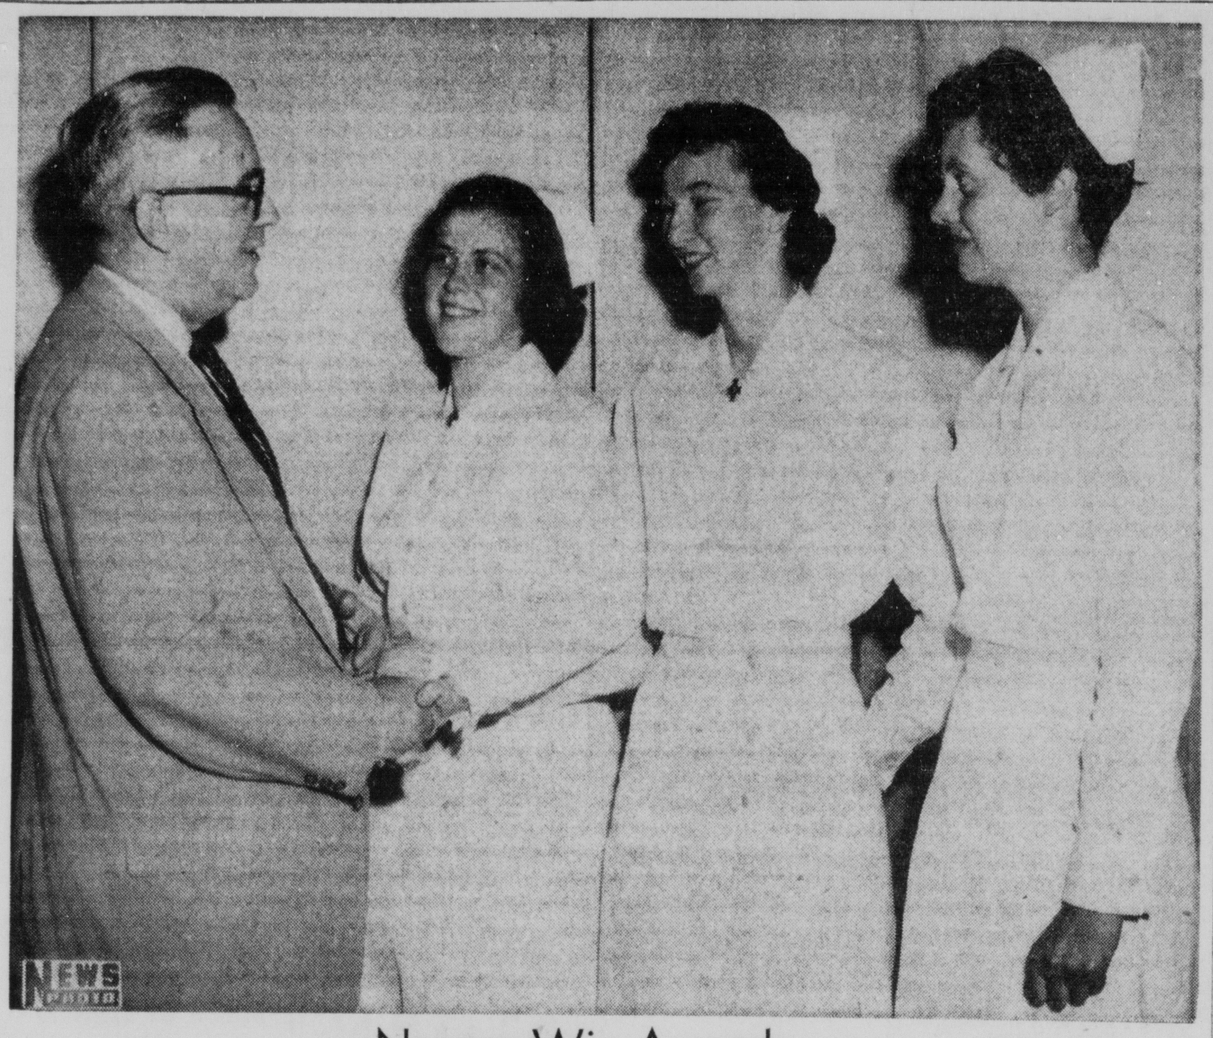

In Ridgeley, work includes about 600 feet of concrete flood wall, from the Western Maryland yards to a point opposite the Potomac Edison power plant. Then the West Ridgeley levee will begin and continue to the cliffs opposite the Moose Home here. It will start again near the Blue Bridge, follow the river to near Ridgeley High School, where it will mark a semicircle to connect with a bank along Route 28.

1958 Is Target Date

Future contracts will include the completion of the swift-channel plan for Wills Creek and pumping stations which will be needed to carry off surface water after all of the floodwalls and levees are built.

The Corps of Engineers expects to complete the $17,000,000 project by 1958 if Congress continues to appropriate funds to keep the work in schedule.

George Bids Low On Sewage Plant For Barracks

Conference Planned With State Police

The George Construction Company yesterday submitted a low bid of about $15,000 for the construction of sewage treatment facilities for the proposed new Maryland State Police Barracks at LaVale.

The George firm was one of five companies which submitted bids for the sytsem to the Department of Public Improvements yesterday in Baltimore.

Bids for the construction of the barracks, including a base bid and five alternates, were opened by the department on Thursday, according to James J. O'Donnell, acting director of the department.

The apparent low bidder was the Vandegrift Construction Company here, which offered to build the main structure for $124,000.

Conference Planned

The firm also submitted bids on each of the alternates, some of which can be delayed.

O'Donnell said the department will confer soon with the Maryland State Police on financial aspects of the building program.

He said it looks as if it will be possible to get the work under way, but that no definite decision is possible until the bids can be studied.

He said he believes funds will be available for the main building and the sewage system, if some of the alternates were deferred.

Asked New Bids

Late in February, the department opened bids for the barracks and found that the low bid of $197,600, also submitted by the Vandegrift firm, exceeded funds which could be allotted for the project.

The department then modified plans and listed a number of alternates which were included in the original specifications, before asking new bids.

The proposed barracks, designed to provide facilities for 21 troopers and four civilian employes, is to be located on Route 40 opposite LaVale Baptist Church.

Amnesia Burglar Gets 10 Years For Theft Series

Local Native Can't Remember His Crimes

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP)—A man who claims to be an amnesia burglar and said one time he even took his own things was sentenced to 10 years in prison today for crimes he declares he can't remember committing.

Judge Herman M. Moser ruled that the protection of the public prevented the court from ordering outside psychiatric treatment which the defendant, Charles Alfred Cadwalader, had requested.

Judge Moser said a confinement order was probably the only way to make sure the 42-year-old exconvict would take psychiatric treatment. He is a native of Cumberland.

"If I did it, I don't know . . . maybe I did it . . . maybe I didn't . . . something tells me to do things and I have bad dreams I can not explain," said the former Ocean City restaurant operator.

Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, called the case "very puzzling" and suggested that Cadwalader may drink considerably more than he says he does.

Cadwalader, who lives in Baltimore during the cold months, testified he once stole items from the glove compartment of his own car. Another mental quirk of his, he said, was a fear of sunlight.

He said he never went outside his restaurant in Ocean City in the day time.

Explorer Scout Program May Be Expanded Here

Local Organizations Invited To Meeting

Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a round table meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company's conference room to discuss youth activities for boys 14 years of age and over.

Invitations to attend the conference have been extended to local organizations by Henry H. Lowery, district chairman.

District officials will stress the needs and possibilities of developing an active Explorer Scout program in Cumberland.

Lowery said the district hopes to encourage self-reliant and resourceful leadership among youths of the community.

He said that if the program of extending the Explorer Scout program is to be successful, adequate adult leadership must be provided to plan and work with the youths of the community.

The Scouting program is divided in to three phases, the Cub program, for boys 8 through 10; the Boy Scout program, for boys 11 thorugh 13, and Explorer, for those 14 and over.

Cumberland District has a number of Explorer Scouts, but officials say the program must be enlarged and enriched if it is to meet the needs of the youths of Cumberland.

Lowery said each troop in the district is being asked to send an Explorer Scout and a Scout leader to the meeting, and that local organizations are asked to send representatives to the meeting. All others interested in expanding the youth program, he added, are invited to attend.

2 Prisoners Escape, One Recaptured

Two-Year Pact Ends Laundry Plant Stoppage

Crystal Plans Normal Operations On Monday

The nine-day work stoppage at the Crystal Laundry Company ended yesterday when officials of the firm and the union representing its employes came to a contract agreement.

The members of Local 679, Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, CIO, notified the company that they would not report to work on May 31, the date of the expiration of the previous pact.

Since that time negotiations have been conducted intermittently. It was reported the company and union were very close to agreeing during that time.

George McA. Young, president of the laundry, announced the settlement this morning after a meeting with Jerry Peters, New York, the international representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers who has been representing the laundry employes.

Under the new pact, negotiations for a new contract may be reopened during that time under the cost of living index issued by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Young said in the event the cost of living index rises, the union may ask to reopen wage negotiations. In the event it drops, the company may do so.

A ten-minute rest period plan was agreed upon to be tried on an experimental basis.

All other proposals of both company and union were dropped.

Young said the office was opened yesterday for business, and added the plant will be back to normal operations Monday morning.

$389,143 In Fire Equipment Now Utilized By Volunteers

Fire-fighting equipment of member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association is valued at $389,143.55, according to the annual report submitted at the convention held Thursday at Shaft.

The value of fire-fighting tools, according to Harry M. DeHaven, chairman of the topics and statistical committee, is $84,703.93. DeHaven pointed out that there are some 1,169 volunteer firemen in the 28 companies of the bi-county association.

Three of the companies were not included in the report at the time of its tabulation. They include Frostburg, Westernport and Piedmont.

The submitted reports of the other 25 companies showed that there was a total of $86,757 in damages caused as a result of fires in 1954 and some 18,185 miles were traveled by the companies in emergencies.

The report pointed out that 634 acres of land were burned over in various fires checked by the volunteers. The latest techniques in fire-fighting were learned during the year by some 156 volunteers who attended various fire schools sponsored by the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

County Voting Lists Continue On Downgrade

Figures compiled by Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, show the county had 40,638 registered voters as of June 1—40,186 white persons and 452 Negro voters.

Among the registered voters were 22,937 Republicans (11,766 men and 11,171 women), 17,432 Democrats (8,935 men and 8,497 women), 246 (182 men and 64 women) who declined to state political preference; 21 Socialists (14 men and seven women) and two members of other parties, one man and one woman.

Seven of the nine new registrants last month at the board's office in the Court House basement were Democrats and only two Republicans. Four of the new Democrats were men and both of the new Republicans also were men.

Offsetting the new registrants was the removal of 29 names of deceased voters. Ten of those who died were Democrats, equally divided between men and women, while the 19 Republicans included 11 men and eight women.

Seven voters switched political parties with the GOP making a net gain of one voter. Four Democrats, three men and one woman, changed to the Republican side and three Republicans, two of them men, moved over to the Democratic ledger.

In May there also was one transfer of a voter from one precinct to another, one Democrat man asked for removal of his name so he could register elsewhere, and two other voters reported changes of address.

Girl Scouts To Hold Day Camp At Constitution Park In July

Registrations are being accepted at the Girl Scout House for the annual Day Camp, which will be held again this year in Constitution Park, according to Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout director.

The dates of camp are July 18-22 and July 25-29, and the cost is $2 per week for Scouts and $2.50 per week for non-Scouts.

Arrangements have been made for a chartered bus to leave the Scout House on Greene Street each day of camp at 8:45 a. m. for those who need transportation. The bus will return the campers to the Scout House each afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Miss Hurlburt said campers will be placed in units according to age and camping experience. Each unit will operate like a Girl Scout troop with trained adult leaders, one to each eight girls. A first aid expert and a registered nurse will be present at all times. Swimming will be under the supervision of a Red Cross life saver.

The girls will be urged to wear comfortable play clothes, blouses or jerseys with shorts, or jeans. Sturdy shoes are a must, Miss Hurlburt said, as there will be plenty of hiking and outdoor activity.

Registrations must be in before July 6, and early indications are that the camp will register a record number of girls.

Miss Hurlburt noted that day camping is popular with girls and parents, because it provides all the activities of outdoor living and camping, except sleeping, and the girls can camp out each day and spend each night in their own homes.

The camp committee for Day Camp includes Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, day camp director; Mrs. William Claus, camp chairman; Mrs. Karl G. Perry, general camping chairman; Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, council president; and Miss Olive M. Hurlburt, executive director.

George Bids Low On Sewage Plant For Barracks

Conference Planned With State Police

The George Construction Company yesterday submitted a low bid of about $15,000 for the construction of sewage treatment facilities for the proposed new Maryland State Police Barracks at LaVale.

The George firm was one of five companies which submitted bids for the sytsem to the Department of Public Improvements yesterday in Baltimore.

Bids for the construction of the barracks, including a base bid and five alternates, were opened by the department on Thursday, according to James J. O'Donnell, acting director of the department.

The apparent low bidder was the Vandegrift Construction Company here, which offered to build the main structure for $124,000.

Conference Planned

The firm also submitted bids on each of the alternates, some of which can be delayed.

O'Donnell said the department will confer soon with the Maryland State Police on financial aspects of the building program.

He said it looks as if it will be possible to get the work under way, but that no definite decision is possible until the bids can be studied.

He said he believes funds will be available for the main building and the sewage system, if some of the alternates were deferred.

Asked New Bids

Late in February, the department opened bids for the barracks and found that the low bid of $197,600, also submitted by the Vandegrift firm, exceeded funds which could be allotted for the project.

The department then modified plans and listed a number of alternates which were included in the original specifications, before asking new bids.

The proposed barracks, designed to provide facilities for 21 troopers and four civilian employes, is to be located on Route 40 opposite LaVale Baptist Church.

Amnesia Burglar Gets 10 Years For Theft Series

Local Native Can't Remember His Crimes

BALTIMORE, June 10 (AP)—A man who claims to be an amnesia burglar and said one time he even took his own things was sentenced to 10 years in prison today for crimes he declares he can't remember committing.

Judge Herman M. Moser ruled that the protection of the public prevented the court from ordering outside psychiatric treatment which the defendant, Charles Alfred Cadwalader, had requested.

Judge Moser said a confinement order was probably the only way to make sure the 42-year-old ex-convict would take psychiatric treatment. He is a native of Cumberland.

Judge Moser once before sentenced Cadwalader to eight years for burglaries.

"If I did it, I don't know . . . maybe I did it . . . maybe I didn't . . . something tells me to do things and I have bad dreams I can not explain," said the former Ocean City restaurant operator.

Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, court psychiatrist, called the case "very puzzling" and suggested that Cadwalader may drink considerably more than he says he does.

The drinking might "loosen antisocial impulses," said Dr. Guttmacher.

Cadwalader, who lives in Baltimore during the cold months, testified he once stole items from the glove compartment of his own car. Another mental quirk of his, he said, was a fear of sunlight.

He said he never went outside his restaurant in Ocean City in the day time.

Explorer Scout Program May Be Expanded Here

Local Organizations Invited To Meeting

Cumberland District, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a round table meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company's conference room to discuss youth activities for boys 14 years of age and over.

Invitations to attend the conference have been extended to local organizations by Henry H. Lowery, district chairman.

District officials will stress the needs and possibilities of developing an active Explorer Scout program in Cumberland.

Lowery said the district hopes to encourage self-reliant and resourceful leadership among youths of the community.

He said that if the program of extending the Explorer Scout program is to be successful, adequate adult leadership must be provided to plan and work with the youths of the community.

The Scouting program is divided in to three phases, the Cub program, for boys 8 through 10; the Boy Scout program, for boys 11 thorugh 13, and Explorer, for those 14 and over.

Cumberland District has a number of Explorer Scouts, but officials say the program must be enlarged and enriched if it is to meet the needs of the youths of Cumberland.

Lowery said each troop in the district is being asked to send an Explorer Scout and a Scout leader to the meeting, and that local organizations are asked to send representatives to the meeting. All others interested in expanding the youth program, he added, are invited to attend.

Two-Year Pact Ends Laundry Plant Stoppage

Crystal Plans Normal Operations On Monday

The nine-day work stoppage at the Crystal Laundry Company ended yesterday when officials of the firm and the union representing its employes came to a contract agreement.

The members of Local 679, Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, CIO, notified the company that they would not report to work on May 31, the date of the expiration of the previous pact.

Since that time negotiations have been conducted intermittently. It was reported the company and union were very close to agreeing during that time.

George McA. Young, president of the laundry, announced the settlement this morning after a meeting with Jerry Peters, New York, the international representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers who has been representing the laundry employes.

The new contract will run for two years instead of one, and provides for a five-cent an hour increase.

Under the new pact, negotiations for a new contract may be reopened during that time under the cost of living index issued by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Young said in the event the cost of living index rises, the union may ask to reopen wage negotiations. In the event it drops, the company may do so.

A ten-minute rest period plan was agreed upon to be tried on an experimental basis.

All other proposals of both company and union were dropped.

Young said the office was opened yesterday for business, and added the plant will be back to normal operations Monday morning.

$389,143 In Fire Equipment Now Utilized By Volunteers

Fire-fighting equipment of member companies of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association is valued at $389,143.55, according to the annual report submitted at the convention held Thursday at Shaft.

The value of fire-fighting tools, according to Harry M. DeHaven, chairman of the topics and statistical committee, is $84,703.93. DeHaven pointed out that there are some 1,169 volunteer firemen in the 28 companies of the bi-county association.

Three men were injured in the line of duty during 1954. One of the injured is a member of the Barton company, while the other two are members of Bowman's Addition.

Figures compiled by DeHaven show that over 449 runs were made during the year, including over 390 local calls.

Three of the companies were not included in the report at the time of its tabulation. They include Frostburg, Westernport and Piedmont.

The submitted reports of the other 25 companies showed that there was a total of $86,757 in damages caused as a result of fires in 1954 and some 18,185 miles were traveled by the companies in emergencies.

The report pointed out that 634 acres of land were burned over in various fires checked by the volunteers. The latest techniques in fire-fighting were learned during the year by some 156 volunteers who attended various fire schools sponsored by the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

County Voting Lists Continue On Downgrade

Figures compiled by Irvin J. Neat and C. William McDermott, registrars, show the county had 40,638 registered voters as of June 1—40,186 white persons and 452 Negro voters.

Among the registered voters were 22,937 Republicans (11,766 men and 11,171 women), 17,432 Democrats (8,935 men and 8,497 women), 246 (182 men and 64 women) who declined to state political preference, 21 Socialists (14 men and seven women) and two members of other parties, one man and one woman.

Seven of the nine new registrants last month at the board's office in the Court House basement were Democrats and only two Republicans. Four of the new Democrats were men and both of the new Republicans also were men.

Offsetting the new registrants was the removal of 29 names of deceased voters. Ten of those who died were Democrats, equally divided between men and women, while the 19 Republicans included 11 men and eight women.

Seven voters switched political parties with the GOP making a net gain of one voter. Four Democrats, three men and one woman, changed to the Republican side and three Republicans, two of them men, moved over to the Democratic ledger.

In May there also was one transfer of a voter from one precinct to another, one Democrat man asked for removal of his name so he could register elsewhere, and two other voters reported changes of address.

Girl Scouts To Hold Day Camp At Constitution Park In July

Registrations are being accepted at the Girl Scout House for the annual Day Camp, which will be held again this year in Constitution Park, according to Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout director.

The dates of camp are July 18-22 and July 25-29, and the cost is $2 per week for Scouts and $2.50 per week for non-Scouts.

Arrangements have been made for a chartered bus to leave the Scout House on Greene Street each day of camp at 8:45 a. m. for those who need transportation. The bus will return the campers to the Scout House each afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Miss Hurlburt said campers will be placed in units according to age and camping experience. Each unit will operate like a Girl Scout troop with trained adult leaders, one to each eight girls. A first aid expert and a registered nurse will be present at all times. Swimming will be under the supervision of a Red Cross life saver.

The girls will be urged to wear comfortable play clothes, blouses or jerseys with shorts, or jeans. Sturdy shoes are a must, Miss Hurlburt said, as there will be plenty of hiking and outdoor activity.

Registrations must be in before July 6, and early indications are that the camp will register a record number of girls.

Miss Hurlburt noted that day camping is popular with girls and parents, because it provides all the activities of outdoor living and camping, except sleeping, and the girls can camp out each day and spend each night in their own homes.

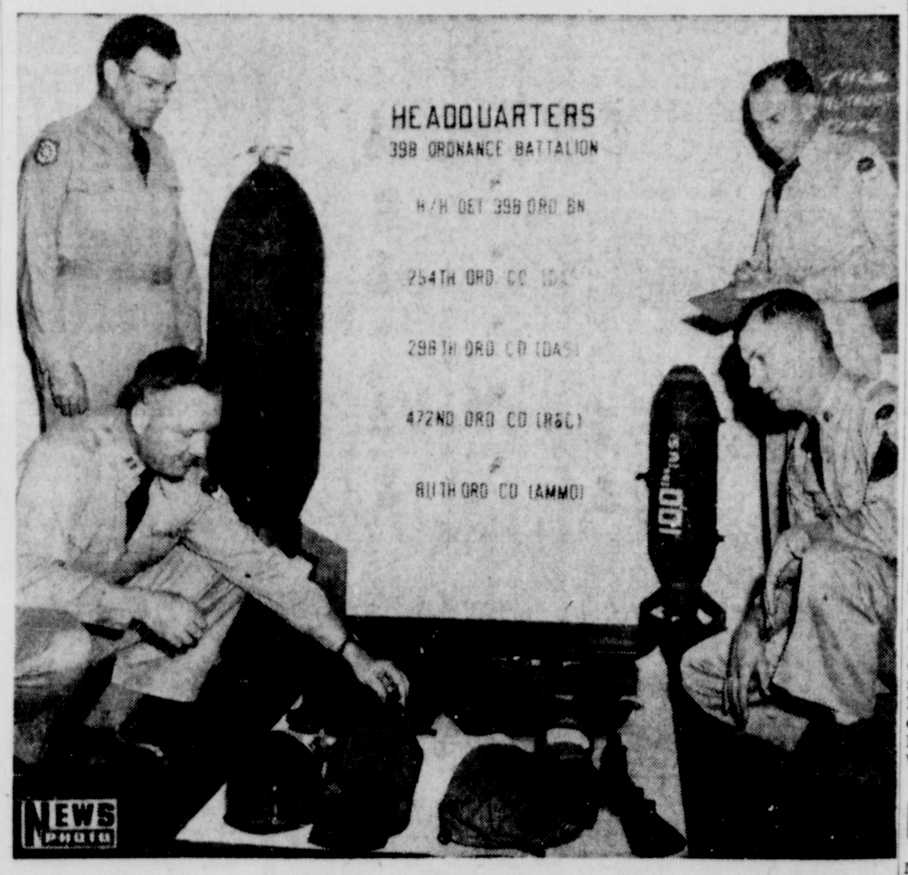

This program is in addition to the regular established camp which begins June 19 and continues through July 3 at Camp Potomac at Oldtown.

The camp committee for Day Camp includes Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, day camp director; Mrs. William Claus, camp chairman; Mrs. Karl G. Perry, general camping chairman; Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, council president; and Miss Olive M. Hurlburt, executive director.
